DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION JUNE 26, 1928 IN HOUSTON

Texas City, a Last Minute Entry, With Bid of $200-000 Chosen on Fifth Ballot—Led From Start.

SAN FRANCISCO FINISHED SECOND

McAdoo Won't Promise
Not to Disturb Party Harmony at Jackson Day Dinner Tonight.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Houston, Tex., this afternoon was selected by the Democratic National Committee for the Democratic national convention this year. The convention will be held at the Houston hotel, June 26, as the date for the convention. This is two weeks after the Republican convention opens in Kansas City.

The choice was made on the fifth ballot. San Francisco was runner-up.

The official count on the final ballot was: Houston, 54; San Francisco, 48; Detroit, 11. On this ballot, 53 were needed for a choice.

Houston scarcely had been mentioned for the convention until a few days ago. As the submission of formal offers began today, San Francisco and Detroit were the favorites, and Houston was in the background. But the Texas representatives refused to be discourage, and the committee members were stirred to cheering.

Speakers for the Lone Star
State, including Gov. Dan Moody and Representative Garrett, made the committee room ring with old-fashioned democratic ardor. They invited the party to come and win Houston's Southern democratic loyalty.

Hall Will Hold Only 6,500.
An auditorium seating only 6,500 persons was the largest they had to offer, but they promised that if it was inadequate, they would build new one. To reinforce their promise, they presented a certified check for $200,000 to pay convention expenses, the largest bid except that of San Francisco, which offered $250,000.

Houston is one of the smallest cities ever to entertain a national convention, but the committee members seemed satisfied with a promise that there would be accommodations for 45,000 visitors.

BOY KILLED BY TRUCK ON WAY TO SCHOOL

5-Year-Old, Crossing Street, Runs Into Side of Machine —Falls Under It.

Roy, 5-year-old son of Nicholas Bering, 3332 Liberty avenue, was killed by a motor truck while on his way to school today.

He was crossing the street at noon in front of the St. Cecilia Parochial School, 5404 Elcheberger avenue, when he attended, when he ran into the side of the machine, and was thrown under it.

Williams Von Behren, the driver, said the boy, running across the street, was looking in the opposite direction from which the truck was approaching.

EDISON STARTS ON VACATION, SAYS FORD NEEDS TO REST

Intended Taking Auto Magnate
South, But Manufacturer Changes Plan; Going Later.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Jan. 12.— Thomas A. Edison departed today for his winter residence at Fort Myers, Fla. Henry Ford, who spent the night at the Edison home in Llewellyn Park, returned to New York for several days before joining Edison.

Ford had announced he would accompany Edison today, and when the latter was asked before he boarded his private railroad car why the automobile manufacturer was not along, he shrugged and said: "Oh, Henry couldn't go."

He'll join us in a few days. He ought to come soon though, he needs the rest. He is working too hard and getting thin. Why, right now you can read a newspaper through him."

"Trubner" was the terse reply of Edison to a question as to what he would do for amusement in Florida. His efforts to develop a native rubber plant are conducted largely in the South.

15-MILE ICE GORGE BREAKS River Falls 6 Feet Here; No Dam- age to Boats.

The ice gorge extending from Cliff Cave, just below Jefferson Barracks, to Kimslick, 15 miles farther south, broke up early today, causing the Mississippi River at St. Louis to fall 6 feet 3 inches.
The fall took about five hours, bringing the stage of the river at 7 a. m. today to 12.1 feet.

No damage was done to boats and barges moored on the river front. A steel barge which is supposed to have broken loose at St.
Louis several days ago was taken to shore at Cape Girardeau this morning.

DECLARES TARIFF 'GIVES' MELLON'S FIRM $3,000,000

Walsh of Montana Says 3-Cent Increase on Aluminum Costs Consumers
$1,000,000 a Year.

NYE DEMANDS FAIR CHANCE FOR FARMER

Industry Will Be Pulled Off Its High Horse if Necessary to Gain a Balance,
He Asserts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The tariff act has "given" from $3,000-000 to $5,000,000 to the Aluminum
Co. of America without excuse," Senator Walsh (Dem.), Montana, declared in the Senate today, naming Secretary of the Treasury Mellon as "the controlling figure in that company."

In urging adoption of the resolution of Senator McMaster (Rep.), South Dakota, for revision of the tariff act, insisted that the duty of 3 cents a pound on aluminum was "unexcusable," had permitted a jump in the aluminum price from 22 cents a pound to 27 cents and had cost the American consumers at least $1,000,000.

He charged the Aluminum Company had an "iron-hand monopoly."

The assertion that the farmers, if necessary, would pull industry down to their own level to get a "fair balance" in economics, was made by Senator Nye (Rep.) of North Dakota, in opening the fourth day of debate on the tariff.

"They want a fair balance in the economic field," he said. "They don't care how they get it. If necessary, they will pull industry off its high horse and bring it down to the level of agriculture.
That is what may be expected if we heed the argument of those who want to let well enough alone."

The Senate debate shows an awakening of discontent throughout the country. It shows a demand for a new order so that all classes may share alike."

The McMaster amendment provides that "many existing tariff rates are excessive and the Senate favors an immediate revision downward of such schedules, believing that it would establish a closer parity between agriculture and industry that would result in the general benefit to all."

Further directed that a copy of the resolution be forwarded to the House, where under the Constitution tariff legislation must originate.

Senator Copeland contended that the sugar tariff was costing the consumers of the country, and particularly the farmers, $200,000,000 a year. Senator Smoot countered with the contention that the income from the sugar tariff more than offset any increased cost of sugar and that therefore the sugar tariff rebounded to the general benefit of the country.

"Where is this prosperity we hear so much of?" asked Senator Nye, adding that last year found at its close 3,000,000 men and women out of employment in the United States.

There were 125 national bank failures and business failures were the largest in history, he said. The Department of Justice, he continued, reported 48,758 bankruptcies during the year representing $80,000,000 more than in 1926 and a half billion more than 10 years ago. But during this period, he asserted, trading on the securities markets "rose to heights that tax the human imagination."

AMERICAN FORCES
TAKE SAN ALBINO

Irregulars' Chief Rejects Plan of New York Civilian Mission That He Lay Down Arms.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 12.—
Land and air attacks by United States marines routed irregulars attempting to mass near the marine stronghold at Quilali, Tuesday.
Fourteen irregulars were killed.
Marine headquarters announced that planes would be sent out regularly to bomb them.

A party of 50 followers of Gen.
Augustino Sandino was attacked near Cule, a joint patrol of marines and Nicaraguan national guardsmen under Lieut. Satterfield killed five of the insurgents in the engagement.

The plane was dropped from the San Diego, dropping bombs and dispersing them.

The marines occupied San Albino without opposition. Col. Louis Masson, commander of the 1st Marine Battalion, announced.

Sandino once worked as a bookkeeper at an American mine at San Albino. Later he captured the town and worked the mine as long as he could, then he destroyed it.

The commission sent by the Fellowship of Reconciliation of New York failed in an effort to persuade Gen. Sandino to lay down his arms.

The commission intended to go to Sandino in the province of Nueva Segovia with the request but Marine authorities refused to permit this, believing the trip to be too dangerous.

The commission then sent to Sandino a letter from the President of the United States, signed by Robert Russell, Kevin Sayre, Robert
C. Jones and Miss Caroline
Wood, had left for Costa Rica, where the answer arrived here.

Buenos Aires Newspaper Assails
U. S. Attitude.

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 12.—The newspaper La Prensa is devoting much space to the intervention of the United States in Nicaragua. It published yesterday interviews with several prominent persons, all of them attacked the United States for its attitude.

An editorial headed "The Force in Havana Begins," asserts that the Pan-American conference opening Monday will be in inauspicious surroundings, since Cuba is dominated by the United States, whose aid in procuring Cuban liberty has been, in the paper's view, much too expensive for the Cubans.

The paper asserts that President Coolidge's choice of a cabinet member, Texas is an evocation of a symbol of robbery of Mexico.

terms the penetration of a sister republic and asserts that the sending of military forces to an independent nation like Nicaragua vio-tional law and offends the dignity of the Latin-American countries.

besides gravely prejudicing the high ideals of Pan-Americans.

"We are sure that all Latin-the people of the United States," the message adds, "are united with

JUDGE VOIDS MRS. SNYDER'S STAY; HER EXECUTION AND THAT OF GRAY ORDERED FOR 11 O'CLOCK TONIGHT

Supreme Court Justice Who Authorized Delay in Widow's Electrocutation Reverses Stand.

DECISION MADE AFTER LONG CONFERENCE

Sing Sing Warden, Gov.
Smith and Attorney General Debate on Carrying Out Sentence.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Supreme Court Justice Levy today vacated the stay of execution which he granted to Mrs. Snyder last night.

When informed that Judge Levy had vacated the stay, it was announced at the Warden's office at Sing Sing prison that the execution of Mrs. Snyder and Henry Judd Gray would take place at 11 o'clock "as though nothing had happened." Mrs. Snyder and Gray were convicted of the murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband.

In vacating the stay, Justice Levy said his chief concern had been the interests of Mrs. Snyder's daughter, Lorraine. He believed that if the child's interests would have been served by having the mother testify in person at the trial of her claims against the Prudential Insurance Co., the stay should have been granted.

"This Court has jurisdiction to continue the stay if it so desires," he said, adding that if he had seen fit to continue it he would have done so.

Attorney-General Ottinger, however, ruled that the court order was illegal and did not constitute a stay and at his request Justice Levy advanced the time of the hearing to 2 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Snyder's counsel was not able to attend at that time so the time was then set for 3:15.
The hearing, however, did not get under way immediately.

Deputy Attorney-General Beyer was about to begin his argument asking that Justice Levy's stay be vacated when Hazeltan interrupted him and addressed the court.

"Before we begin," he said, "I understand that we are not here to argue on the merits of this stay, which was scheduled for tomorrow morning, but solely on the question as to whether this Court has the power to make such a stay."

Justice Levy ruled that he would first hear Beyer on the question of the legality of the stay in the order to show cause.

"At the eleventh hour," said Beyer, "an effort is made to have Ruth Snyder called as a witness in a civil suit, and this motion is being made by the Attorney-General to set aside and vacate the stay of execution contained in that order."

"In the first place, this order was made ex-parte, without notice to the Warden of the prison or the Department of Corrections, or any other public official whose duty it was to carry the sentence of the Court into effect. I think it is quite clear when we read section 859 of the civil practice act, that it was not the intention of the Legislature that stay of execution should be granted ex-parte in an application of this kind."

Beyer told Justice Levy that a person under sentence of death was already dead so far as his capacity as a witness is concerned.

Cites Section in Code.
"Differing respectfully with the learned judge," said the Attorney-General, "I cannot but feel that his procedure is expressly forbidden by section 495 of the Code of Criminal Procedure when it states that 'No Judge, Court or officer, other than the Governor, can revoke or suspend the execution of a defendant sentenced to the punishment of death, except where a sheriff is authorized so to do, in a case and

LINDBERGH TO GO ON TO VENEZUELA, THEN HEAD NORTH

Aviator Decides to Fly Over the Mountains From Panama to Caracas, 900 Miles Away.

ARRIVES IN COLON
FROM PANAMA CITY

Schedule Uncertain, but Airman Will Visit St.
Thomas, Porto Rico, Haiti, Santo Domingo.

COLON, Panama, Jan. 12.—Completing the last leg of his Central American flight, Col. Charles A.
Lindbergh landed safely at France Field about 11:30 this morning. He had hopped off from Campo Lindergh in Panama less than an hour before.

Ten thousand cheering spectators were there to greet him when he came circling over the field. In the streets of Colon, through which he passed in an auto, virtually the whole population of 60,000 welcomed the aviator joyfully.

Flags, banners and bunting decorated the buildings. Marines and soldiers furnished guards and bands. "Viva Lindbergh!" rang from all quarters as the aviator, seated in an automobile with the arriving Jan. 9, President Clarial and several members of the Cabinet were there fully 20 minutes before the flyer. On reaching the field, Col. Lindbergh himself started the propeller on the Spit-of St. Louis and after bidding a warm adieu to the President, entered the plane and taxied the full length of the field. He circled Panama City and then headed for Colon.

Lindbergh saw the wonders of the canal in his flight from Panama City to Colon. Because he is a reserve officer he was permitted an opportunity denied to other aviators. He passed over the Miraflores and Pedro Miguel locks in view of the passengers of a railroad train and played about over the verdant hills and valleys, banana plantations and the thatched roofs of native homes, the Culabra and lighthouses that mark the passage of the ships. All craft were "dressed" in his honor.

He flew over the Darien navy base and along roads where gauchos were driving cattle.
He saw man-made lakes, where gauchos were sticking up from the water—and thence onward to the Ga-ton lock. A tropical shower came up for a minute and was gone, but it freshened the country as he flew.

BALBOA, Canal Zone, Jan. 12.— Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has decided definitely to continue his Central American good will tour to South America. Before he takes off, however, the "Spirit of St.
Louis" will be thoroughly inspected.

The flyer said he could not yet set dates for his future flights or give their sequence, but he will fly from Colon to Venezuela, landing as near as possible to Caracas.
Caracas is 900 miles from Colon by airline over mountainous country. By ordinary travel it takes six days to make the trip. Lindergh expects to make it in about six hours.

From Caracas he will follow the Antilles, making stops at St.
Thomas, one of the Virgin Islands; Porto Rico, Haiti and Santo Domingo, on the way to Havana.
The flyer is a member of the command of the Canal 7 re-last night. The flyer, in formal evening dress, was a conspicuous
white uniforms and the white evening dress of the tropics. Adding to the illumination of the tropical scene on the lawn at Gen. Graves's

CHAMBERLIN AND AID TRY AGAIN FOR ENDURANCE RECORD

Flyers, Forced to Quit Yesterday, Want to Beat Mark of 52 Hours 22 Minutes.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Clarence D. Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flyer, accompanied by Roger Q. Williams, took off in a Bellanca plane at Roosevelt Field at 10:15 a. m. today in an attempt to break the world's endurance flight record.
An attempt failed yesterday after four hours because of the failure of a fuel pump.

Chamberlin said he had been informed that weather conditions were favorable for the flight, in which he and Williams hope to break the existing endurance record of 52 hours 22 minutes and 31 seconds, established by two German aviators.

Chamberlin's plane carried 461 gallons of gasoline in the main tanks and 10 gallons in cans in the cockpit.

A traffic policeman testified that Buxton on Christmas eve drove past an automatic stop signal at Grand and Washington boulevards and continued on his way although the policeman tried three times to force him to the curb and fired four shots into the air.

A detective who took up the chase at Cook and Newstead avenues, where the traffic officer stopped, admitted firing two shots at the car, but explained he did not know the motorist was sought only for a traffic offense. He arrested Buxton after a further chase of 25 blocks, during which Buxton's defense was that he was a stranger in town, did not see the traffic signal; that he was unaware the traffic policeman tried to stop him, and that he fled from the detective, who was in plain clothes, because he mistook him for a holdup man.

MAYOR MILLER THREATENED, GUARDED ON WAY TO OFFICE

Mayor Miller, who last week received an anonymous letter which contained a threat that he would be killed today, was accompanied from his home to the City Hall this morning by Police Inspector Walton. A bullet was enclosed in the letter.

"I didn't ask for the guard," the Mayor told reporters, "but in the future I intend to keep a loaded revolver on my desk. If it doesn't kill a person, it will at least knock him down."

AL SMITH BOOM STIRS UP DEBATE IN THE SENATE

Copeland Starts It by Saying Governor as Democratic Nominee Will Sweep Country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Presidential politics got its first airing of the session in the Senate yesterday with the prohibition views of Gov. A. E. Smith of New York the basis of a debate. Before its end leaders of both parties became involved.

Gov. Smith was put forward as a Democratic candidate "who will sweep the country" by Senator Copeland (Dem.) of New York, when pressed by Republicans to name his candidate after he had predicted a harmony meeting of Democrats at the Jackson Day dinner tonight.

Senator Borah (Rep.) of Idaho, immediately questioned the New York Senator as to the prohibition views of Gov. Smith and was informed that the Governor "is thoroughly in favor of enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment."

Democrats immediately rallied behind Copeland and Senators Caraway of Arkansas and Neely of West Virginia, pressed Senator Borah for the prohibition views of President Coolidge and Republican presidential candidates.

The Idahoan replied that he wasn't sure of the views of Mr. Coolidge but said that his prohibition policy had been endorsed by leading dry organizations. He gave notice that he intended to ask every Republican presidential candidate to state his position on prohibition "if anybody ever announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination."

Senator Caraway suggested that Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican leader, had announced his candidacy and called upon Borah to inquire of the Kansas Senator who sat nearby as to his prohibition views. The Idaho Senator said he didn't understand Senator Curtis had announced his candidacy and he suggested that the Arkansas Senator was a good interrogator. Senator Curtis smiled broadly as he addressed him on the point.

Copeland said that while he didn't speak for Smith, he felt he knew his views.

"He has never made one utterance against the Eighteenth Amendment," Copeland said. "He has believed that the enforcement act as embodied in the Volstead law could be modified."

Senator Copeland further stated that he understood that Smith favored having Congress determine what should be the alcoholic content of intoxicating liquor and then have the states, if they wish, permit the sale of beverages with alcohol up to that limit.

Senator Borah persisted that Congress already had determined the amount of alcohol which it considered intoxicating and that if Gov. Smith was willing to leave this question to Congress that point was settled.

"As chief executive," Copeland continued, "he will use all the powers at his command to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment and all other laws. Regardless of his beliefs about the Volstead act he believes that every law must be strictly enforced."

Gov. Smith Sends Letter to Be Read at Jackson Dinner.
By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Gov. Smith of New York has sent to Chairman Shaver of the Democratic National Committee a brief letter to be read tonight at the Jackson day dinner.

Gov. Smith declined an invitation to attend the dinner on the ground of pressure of State affairs. William G. McAdoo, who engaged with Smith in the most memorable deadlock in the nation's political history at Madison Square Garden in 1924, will speak at the dinner.

SAYS HIGH HEELS ON SHOES RUIN NICELY SHAPED KNEES

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—If you would have nicely shaped knees don't wear high-heeled shoes.

That's advice to women and girls by pediatricians. The Philadelphia Pediatric Society was told

Tuesday night by Dr. J. Torrance. Rough that the wearing of high-heeled shoes causes the foot to assume an unnatural position, with the result that the muscles and bones are thrown out of balance. When that happens, he said, the knees become less stable, the knee action becomes much less secure and fatigue results.

Dr. Torrance also sounded a warning against toe and other fancy dancing, none of which is conducive to normal and shapely feet, but held out a ray of hope for those afflicted with bow legs. Such a condition can be remedied, the physicians were told, by adjusting the height of one of the edges of the shoes.

TRAFFIC BUREAU PLAN DISCUSSED AT HEARING

Mayor, Police, Judges and Several Organizations Favor Proposal.

A hearing on the proposal of the Safety Council for creation of a Traffic Violations Bureau to handle minor traffic cases expeditiously, was held this afternoon before the Resolutions Committee of the Board of Aldermen at City Hall. Fear that the bureau will stop the "fixing" of petty traffic cases is the chief source of opposition against it, Police Commissioner Freund told the committee. He urged that St. Louis follow the example of Los Angeles, Chicago, Cleveland and other large cities in setting up a traffic bureau to relieve the heavily burdened Police Courts, and motorists and police of the annoyance of "clay in hearing traffic cases."

Fixed Scale for Fines. The resolution, introduced into the Board of Aldermen about a month ago, would authorize creation of the bureau in charge of a member of the police department with the rank of at least sergeant. It would be quasi-legal, with power to collect fines on a fixed scale.

Representatives of the Safety Council, the Downtown Improvement Association, Associated Retailers, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Automobile Club, were at the hearing to speak for the bureau. Commissioner Freund and Chief Gerk were there in behalf of the police department.

Mayor Miller, the judges of the two police courts and the police board all were in favor of the bureau, Freund said.

Mayor Miller announced he would discuss with the police board the advisability of establishing the bureau by executive order if the Board of Aldermen does not approve the plan. He said aldermanic sanction was desirable, but not essential.

Will Save Time of Police.

The Traffic Bureau, Freund asserted, will enable police to save hours now wasted in Police Courts waiting for traffic cases to be heard. In addition, Freund said, the bureau would release police for duty at a time when they are most needed, in the forenoon. "St. Louis is undermanned by police now," he declared. Where motorists feel they have been unjustly fined, they still would have recourse to trial in Police Courts, Freund pointed out. The committee will submit recommendations to the Board of Aldermen. It is headed by Alderman Harry Riefing, Fifteenth Ward.

"The Store for All the People"

TRADE BOARD WOULD OPERATE WAREHOUSES

Appeal for Charter is Made Before Illinois Commerce Commission.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Trading in grain on the Chicago Board of Trade has dropped from 100,000,000 bushels, a former average day's business, to 20,000,000 bushels or less daily, due to uncertainty over warehousing conditions in Chicago.

John R. Mauff, member of the Board of Trade, testified before the Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday.

He appeared to urge approval of the charter of the Board of Trade Warehouse Corporation, an organization formed by the Board to take over operation of public grain warehouses in Chicago following passage of the McCarty act by the last Legislature, forbidding the operation of public warehouses by individuals.

Speedy approval of the new corporation was urged on the Commission recently at Springfield by Morris M. Townley, attorney for the board, who expressed a fear that if the State and the board do not act soon, Congress might take a hand and institute some form of Federal control.

Many evils of the grain trade would be remedied by operation of the new corporation, Mauff contended, adding that because it would protect buyers from repetition of the recent Armour Grain Co. scandal. He said it also would prevent repetition of an incident five years ago when warehousemen, being short on the market, forced a speculator who was long to accept delivery in freight cars throughout the Chicago district, the grain finally being forced on the market, which was glutted. The Commission at the close of the hearing took the case under advisement.

FELTMAN & CURME

Wonderful Shoes—81 Stores—Coast to Coast

426 North Sixth St.
Southeast Corner of St. Charles

703 Olive St.
West of Seventh St.

FROM ONE STORE TO EIGHTY-ONE

How Feltman & Curme Built a Quality Business with Low Prices

From one store in Richmond, Ind., in 1907, to a chain of 81 stores in 1928 is the record of Feltman & Curme—a record which is outstanding in the history of American Merchandising.

The growth of the business can be traced to the determination of its founders, Charles H. Feltman and Arthur A. Curme, to maintain the highest standards in business and to develop an organization for the merchandising of only shoes of quality and style, actual $7 to $10 values, at prices which would be considered low even for ordinary shoes.

Buying Power Does It

The great Coast to Coast sale, now in progress in their 81 stores, offers not only their own entire stock of wonderful shoes, but also the entire surplus stocks of a number of manufacturers who are noted for the production of high grade footwear, purchased at manufacturer's cost. They are actual $7 to $10 values and are being sold during this January Sale for $3.95, $4.95 and $5.45. Every pair of shoes is included. Nothing is reserved.

They place orders by the carload and not by the dozen—orders that keep the factories going—straight through—the full seasons—as well as in the busy seasons. For this reason Feltman & Curme get the very "cream" of quality—the highest standard of workmanship, and the latest styles.

Big Sales at Small Profits

But this buying power—great as it is—is not the only factor which makes these values possible. They have built into their business the policy of selling a volume of shoes at a small profit per pair.

Feltman & Curme cut out every unnecessary selling expense. They sell only for cash—they do not have to tack on to their prices the cost of collecting delinquent accounts. They have no charge accounts, no credit losses—and no delivery expenses. Customers are glad to carry home a $7 or $10 value—which they can get now for $3.95, $4.95 and $5.45.

There is an arch support shoe—an actual $7 value—which gives the foot perfect comfort and enables the wearer to step out in style—and that shoe is being sold during the sale for $4.95. All silk hosiery—actual $1.95 value—can be purchased for $1.29 per pair.

Feltman & Curme's policy of selling genuine kangaroo shoes for men—the aristocrat of footwear—an actual $10 value—can now be purchased for $5.45. And men's silk hosiery can be obtained for 45c per pair.

Coast to Coast Chain

Fifteen of the 81 stores are located in Chicago, three are in New York, three in Indianapolis, three in Denver, three in San Francisco, three in Kansas City, two in St. Louis, two in St. Paul—and also a store in all the principal cities throughout the country.

YOUR ST. LOUIS

How Well Do You Know It?

ST. LOUIS PUBLIC LIBRARY
The St. Louis Public Library was founded in 1865 as a collection of books for the use of children in the public schools. It was reorganized in its present form in 1893 under the state library law, then newly passed, and is now governed by a board of nine members appointed by the mayor.

The library is now housed in a large central building costing nearly $2,000,000, and opened for public use in 1921. It has also for local use 13 branch libraries in various parts of the city, besides a large number of book collections deposited in schools, industrial and commercial houses, clubs, etc., and about 65 delivery and deposit stations in drug stores throughout the city. The total number of distributing points is now 192.

The library owns a collection of 726,427 volumes and gives out for home use about 3,000,000 volumes annually. Anyone who lives or conducts a business in St. Louis is entitled to draw books free of charge or to use them in the library building.

The library conducts a school of librarianship to train young men and women for its work. This is one of the 13 similar schools in the United States accredited by the Education Committee of the American Library Association. Tuition is free to residents of St. Louis, and there are at present 33 candidates for diplomas.

Every day this place will be devoted to some one particular manufacturing plant or industry which is contributing to the dynamic growth of St. Louis.

SAYS YALE STUDENTS' ARREST WAS ILLEGAL

Attorney for 19 Held in Labor Dispute, Declares Ordinance Is Unconstitutional.

By the Associated Press.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 12.—Defense of the 19 Yale students who were arrested here Tuesday for distributing pamphlets dealing with a neckwear maker's labor controversy will take the form of a test case assailing the constitutionality of the ordinance under which the men were arrested, says a statement by Philip Troup, counsel for the students.

The students, seven of them divinity scholars, were members of a group of nearly 50 who were engaged in the distribution of a leaflet which deals with the general labor dispute between the union and two manufacturing firms. The firms moved here from New York to avoid strike troubles over their refusal to declare a closed shop.

Charges against the students arrested were on the violation of a city ordinance which prohibits the distribution of hand-bills. The men were released on bonds and their appearance in City Court is scheduled for Jan. 21.

Referring to the students' rights in the case, Troup said: "They have an absolute right to present their point of view in this matter to the citizens of New Haven in the orderly, peaceful, and constitutional manner attempted Tuesday, we have no doubt, unless the bill of rights has become a dead letter in our State and Federal constitutions. We believe our clients and their friends violated no law or ordinance in what they did, or attempted to do yesterday, and we shall present our legal reasons for this to the Court."

The statement also says Troup's firm was retained by the American Civil Liberties Union, of New York City, and by the three authors of the pamphlet to represent them in their effort to "inform the public in a proper and constitutional manner about the strike of the United Neckwear Makers' Union against Stern & Merritt and Berkman & Adler." In this city.

Woman and Daughter Gassed.
Mrs. Albert Moore and her daughter, Mrs. Capt. Byrd, 18 years old, 1921 (near) Cass avenue, were taken to city hospital today, suffering from gas poisoning. Mrs. Moore was awakened this morning by the odor of gas and found a jet on a kitchen stove had been accidentally left open.

ADVERTISEMENT DID YOU WAKE UP COUGHING?

Here at Last Is the Relief You Have So Long Been Seeking

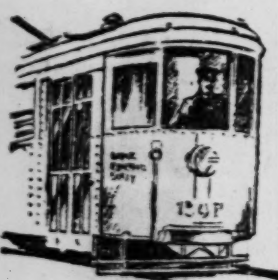

If you have catarrh you are in danger of losing your hearing. The first symptoms of catarrhal deafness are roaring or buzzing sensations and a stopped-up feeling in the ears. A neglected cold, or an uncurbed cold, leads to catarrh, and as everybody knows, catarrh affects the eyes, ears, nose, throat, lungs and frequently undermines the general health.

The secret of the successful medication of these hidden parts was discovered by Dr. Blosser in his medical practice. This remedy is supplied by smoking a certain combination of medicinal herbs (containing no tobacco) in a pipe or cigarette. Dr. Blosser's Remedy produces a dense smoke vapor which is inhaled or forced into the Eustachian tubes leading to the middle ear. It penetrates to parts impossible to reach with balms, salves, sprays, douches, pills, tablets, liquids and so-called "constitutional treatments." This Remedy is absolutely harmless.

You can get from any drug store a convenient pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes and prove for yourself their pleasant, beneficial effects.

STRAWN TO ADDRESS LAWYERS TOMORROW

President of American Bar Association Is Figure in International Law.

Silas H. Strawn, of Chicago, president of the American Bar Association, will address the St. Louis Bar Association at its annual dinner tomorrow night at Hotel Coronado. His subject will be "Lawyers and Business."

He became a figure in international law when, in 1925 and 1926, he sat as chairman of the International Commission which investigated extra-territorial jurisdiction in China. Previously he had been appointed by President Coolidge as one of the two delegates representing the United States at the conference respecting the Chinese customs tariff.

Strawn has served as president of the Illinois Bar Association and of the Chicago Bar Association, and for many years has been chairman of the Education section of the American Bar Association. He is a member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

He is chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward & Co., a director of several banks and a director in many other business enterprises. He is one of the trustees of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and is a trustee of the Field Museum of Chicago.

He was admitted to the bar in Illinois in 1889. He moved to Chicago two years later and has remained. His law firm—Winston, Strawn & Shaw, is general counsel for many railroad companies.

LEAVES $1081 IN PULLMAN
Russian Mining Engineer Thought He Had Been Robbed.
When Nicos Rubanowich, Russian mining engineer, who came to this country to study the coal mining industry, stepped out of a taxi cab at the Jefferson Hotel yesterday he discovered he had lost all his money. Through an interpreter he told Chief of Detectives Kaiser his story.

An hour later detectives found a $1081 roll of bills under the cushion of the seat he had occupied in a Pullman coach of a Pennsylvania railroad train, and restored it to him.

COAST GUARD FLEET IN FLORIDA ENLARGED

Twenty Speedy Vessels and 2 Airplanes to Prevent Landing of Liquor and Aliens.

By the Associated Press.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Jan. 12.—Florida's east coast today swarmed with Coast Guard craft in a war against contraband—alcoholic or otherwise—that sought to gain the mainland from outlying islands and keys.

From Daytona Beach south to isolated points below Miami, a stretch frequently the theater of smuggling operations, the coast is under surveillance by more than 20 fleet vessels of the sub-chaser type, mounting one-pounders to three-inch guns. The full complement of the fleet, when in action, will raise the strength to 35 vessels and two seaplanes and enable the concentrated forces to keep 300 miles of waters under perpetual threat of artillery fire.

Schooner Seized.
 Seizure of an American schooner and 512 sacks of liquor near West End in the Bahamas yesterday was one result of the blockade. Two men, George Jones of West Palm Beach and Buddy Jones, Negro, West End, were released on bond after a hearing before Commissioner John F. Spitzer in Miami and the schooner was towed to Fort Lauderdale.

Current reports that the rapidly mobilized force was bent solely on blotting out rum running from the Bahamas and other outlying land were quelled last night by Commander Beckwith Jordan, commandant of the Coast Guard craft in Florida waters. After the vessels had sailed away last night, under secret orders, to their posts at sea, he said:

"There is one thing I want clearly understood. This blockade is not essentially an eighteenth amendment measure. We have nothing directly to do with the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Our duty is to prevent all forms of smuggling."

To Stay in U. S. Waters.
 On board the flagship Tampa, Capt. H. G. Hamlet of the New London (Conn.) Coast Guard base, was in active command of the offensive. Two amphibian planes will aid the campaign in scouting and liaison.

"For the moment, at least," the recently established policy of remaining outside territorial waters will be maintained, said Commander Jordan. Coast Guard boats formerly patrolled the island waters for observation purposes, but were withdrawn pending settlement of a controversy arising when British authorities charged a capture was made within the British territorial limit.

Funeral of George Tyler.
 Funeral services for George Tyler, a resident of St. Charles County for the last 10 years, who died Sunday, were held today from the South Dardenne Church at Howell, Mo. Tyler, who was 76 years old, operated a large farm near Reifsnick. A daughter, Miss Early Tyler, is an instructor at Roosevelt High School here.

More Attractive After She Gained Needed Weight

Is your face drawn and pinched? Your skin flabby? Are your cheeks sunken with great hollows under the eyes? Does your figure show unbecoming angles instead of the soft, rounded slimness of youth? All these conditions rob you of attractiveness and make you look old. But worst of all, these may actually be the symptoms of simple anemia—that dread ailment so often suffered by women.

There's nothing so good as McCoy's Tablets to put on firm flesh, round out face and figure and help build rich, red blood.

So if you need a few pounds of flesh to round out the hollows, if you want to get back oldtime energy and health, get a box of McCoy's Tablets today. Just a short treatment will make you look and feel like a new person.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One-Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at Wolff-Willson Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

10 Min.

A few drops of Arzen in each nostril will relieve any cold in ten minutes. Guaranteed. Only 50¢ at all druggists. Try it when you buy.

Get relief or don't pay. Arzen is pleasant and harmless.

TWO GET 10 YEARS TO LIFE

Charles Bednar, 32 years old, and Carl Jensen, 27, of Belleville, were sentenced to from 10 years to life in a Chester penitentiary on their pleas of guilty to armed robbery in Belleville Circuit Court today. The pair were taken to an East St. Louis taxicab chauffeur in December, 1926, taking $9.50 and his cab, which they later abandoned. They were among eight prisoners who escaped from the county jail at Belleville six weeks after the robbery, but were returned from the Canal Zone last November, having been sent there after joining the army.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent cough and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take.
Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles.
Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

COTTON FARMERS VOTE TO WITHHOLD SURPLUS

Growers Also Agree to Reduce Acreage When Supply Exceeds Demand.

By the Associated Press. NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 12.—A plan providing for withholding the surplus crop from the market until the price should provide a "reasonable profit" and to reduce acreage whenever a surplus was grown was adopted unanimously by a meeting of Southern cotton farmers under the auspices of the American Cotton Association yesterday.

The plan which was submitted by Col. Harvie Jordan of Greenville, S. C., manager of the Better Farming campaign of the American Cotton Association, provided that the plan be administered by a chairman and vice chairman in each county and that expenses should be provided by levying 19 cents a bale on the cotton and $10 a year on banks handling loans to producers.

Cut in Acreage Urged. A resolution was adopted urging that cotton acreage be reduced this year and that the smaller area be cultivated more intensively so as to increase the yield of better spinnable cotton per acre at a lower cost of production, and that land which will not produce a half bale of lint cotton be planted in a legume crop.

A cotton financing corporation "with sufficient capital to finance and hold off the market any temporary surplus of cotton produced in any year in order to stabilize the price of cotton and make the crop bring the average cost of production and a reasonable profit on the capital and labor invested" was favored.

The lead in this movement, the resolution said, should be taken by the bankers of the South who "should show their willingness to go the limit of their financial and business ability to make the cotton crop bring its real value."

Diversified Farming Advocated. Diversification of crops was advocated in another resolution which stated that "in the interest of safe and sane farming in the South we urge a largely increased planting in food, feed and legume crops and an increase in dairy cattle and poultry."

The resolution stated that "the cotton growing states continue the unwise policy of planting enough acreages in cotton without profit to the rank and file of the growers while importing hundreds of millions of dollars worth of food and feed from other states."

A committee of 12 will be appointed by J. S. Wannamaker, president of the association to execute the plans for controlling the surplus crop and to reduce acreage. One member will be named from each cotton growing state.

TWO BANK ROBBERS KILLED IN FIGHT WITH TEXAS OFFICERS. Sheriff, Warned of Plot to Loot Depository at Rankin, Pats Guard Inside of Building.

By the Associated Press. SAN ANGELO, Tex., Jan. 12.—Two men who attempted to enter the First State Bank at Rankin, near here, at 4 o'clock this morning, were killed in a fight with officers.

Sheriff J. C. Barfield said that he had been warned an effort would be made to rob the bank.

ENGINEERS OPPOSE BOULDER DAM BILL

American Council Disapproves Measure to Appropriate Public Funds for Power Site.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Swing-Johnson Boulder Dam proposal was disapproved by the American Engineering Council yesterday.

Passing upon a wide range of legislative subjects, the Council adopted resolutions opposing the expenditure of public funds for the Colorado River project, or for the aid of commercial aviation or of agriculture.

The particular provision of the Swing-Johnson measure under which the Government would make advances to a "Colorado River Dam fund" was made the basis of the Council's objection. It was asserted that such a procedure would involve ownership and sale of power by the Government.

The claims of Utah to its share of the waters of the Colorado River were presented to the House Irrigation Committee by Gov. George H. Dern.

Asks Mexican Treaty.
Appearing before the committee to register an official protest against the Swing-Johnson bill the Utah Governor after specifying his grounds of opposition, outlined the requirements of his state in the settlement of the problem.

Dern demanded a seven-State ratification of the Santa Fe compact, an acknowledgment that water within a State is the property of the State. He also insisted upon a treaty with Mexico preserving to the United States the rights to any water of the Colorado River made available through development in the United States, including equitable rights to the natural flow.

The Federal Government, he declared, should acknowledge "that Utah is the owner of that portion of the bed of the Colorado River which lies within its borders. The Governor also urged full acknowledgment that the States have the right to demand and receive compensation for use of their lands and waters."

Defines State's Position.
The question involved, Dern insisted, is not whether the Federal Government has the right to dispose as it pleased of its own property, but whether it has the right to do so as it desired with the property of the States.

"We assert that the Western States have jurisdiction over the streams," he added, "and that the Federal Government neither owns nor has the right to control any of our streams whether navigable or unnavigable, and unless invited to do so, has no authority to do anything on our rivers except to regulate navigation for interstate commerce, or to fulfill international obligations."

U. S. JUDGE CHANGES MIND Decides to Keep Post After Coolidge Nominates Successor.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—President Coolidge has been advised that Federal Judge John C. Pollock of Kansas, whose successor had been nominated by him, does not wish to retire from the bench. Consequently a change is necessitated in the nomination of George T. McDermott for the place.

McDermott's nomination was withdrawn and he received another creating him a Federal Judge in Kansas. It is presumed that he will act in the capacity of an assistant until Judge Pollock retires. The law authorizes the President to appoint an extra Judge when the incumbent is unable to transact all of the business of the court.

SUGAR REFINERS ORGANIZED

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—George A. Zabriskie, war-time chairman of the Sugar Equalization Board, has become executive head of the American Sugar Refining Industry. His acceptance of a position on the board was announced by the newly organized sugar refiners. His duties will be to organize the work of the institute as a clearing

DOWNSTAIRS (A GREAT STORE IN A GREAT CITY) STORE NEWS

BEGINNING FRIDAY AT 9 A. M.

Unrestricted Choice of Any Man's Suit, Topcoat or Overcoat

IN THE DOWNSTAIRS STORE

THIS sale marks the closing of our Men's Suit and Overcoat Department... due to the spirited growth of the Downstairs Store. We have found it impossible to provide the needed extra floor space for the department and rather than conduct it on a less complete and modern plane than our other Downstairs Store Departments, have decided on this drastic step.

1/3 off Of Marked Price

Winter Suits, Spring Suits, Summer Suits, Topcoats and Overcoats... all are offered at one-third less than the marked price in this memorable sale. THERE ARE NO EXCEPTIONS... Every garment, including serges, cassimeres and worsteds is included. Every color and every style from those that please the gayest youths to those preferred by the most conservative elders. Regardless of size you'll find a garment to win you. Because of the unusual character of this sale, slight charge will be made for alterations.

HERE IS INSTANT RELIEF FOR DEAFNESS Head Noises, Ear Aches

Roaring and hissing sounds, discharge, pains, sensitive and tender ears, all ear drum trouble.
You will be surprised how quickly Aurine will help you. You may be a chronic long-time sufferer, you may have tried many things without relief, but do not give up hope before you know what Aurine Ear Balm can do for you. Dr.
Edward Kolar, M. D., said, "Aurine helped cases
I had given up as hopeless. A truly remarkable scientific remedy."

Stop paying high prices for earphones, stop buying expensive treatments and enjoy the glorious relief that more than 100,000 others have found in Aurine. A few drops in each ear and relief comes instantly. Mr. R. P.
Maxwell, a well-known Deputy Sheriff, says, "Just started using my second bottle and am glad to state that I can now hear my watch tick.
Today was the first time, this summer, I heard the church bell ring."
No matter how stubborn or what your trouble is, you must try Aurine.
No risk, no chance, no doubt, Aurine must do the work or cost you nothing.

STATE'S RIGHTS FIGURE IN CONTEMPT APPEAL

Attorney Fined by U. S. Judge For Filing Injunction Suit; Argues Own Case.

C. W. Trickett a Kansas City, Kan. attorney, appearing before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here yesterday, argued his appeal from a civil contempt judgment against him by Federal Judge John C. Pollock of Kansas, growing out of his participation in a suit in the Kansas Supreme Court to enjoin the execution of a decree of Judge Pollock ordering the erection of a bridge at Kansas City and the issuance of $472-000 of bonds by Wyandotte County to pay for it. Trickett was fined $5000 by Judge Pollock and his associate, Justice N. Baird, County Prosecutor, was fined $2000.

In the argument Trickett told the Appellate Court that testimony taken before a special master in the contempt proceedings was deliberately misquoted to Judge Pollock by the master in his report, that exceptions taken to it were waived aside by the Judge, and that an attempt was made by counsel to deceive the Appellate Court by quoting in a brief only half of a remark by Judge Pollock.

Thomas A. Pollock, counsel appearing in opposition to the appeal, denied any attempt to deceive the court and declared the quotation complained of by Trickett to be a typographical error. Thomas Pollock is not related to Judge Pollock.

After a review of the case, in which Trickett declared Judge Pollock's decree was made in direct conflict with the Kansas State laws, the attorney told the court of, his own interest in the case and said he was held to be in contempt of the Federal Court and fined merely because a suit was filed in the Kansas Supreme Court to get an expression on the law and to protect innocent purchasers of the bonds and the taxpayers of Wyandotte County.

"No man's liberty is safe in this country if that is the law and that is justice," Trickett declared.

While the appeal in the case is from the contempt judgment only, it is thought likely the Appellate Court, composed of Circuit Judges Sanborn and Lewis and District Judge Phillips, necessarily will have to pass on the more important question of the right of Federal Courts in exercising jurisdiction of affairs wholly within one State.

From the State's rights standpoint the case is one of the most important heard here in years and it was expected Senator Reed would assist Trickett in presenting the appeal but he was detained in Washington.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—The bodies of musicians, servants and women who accompanied a King to his burial, have been found in a treasure-strewn grave in Ur, the Chaldees, by the joint archaeological expedition of the University of Pennsylvania and the British Museum, says a report received yesterday. The bodies were buried more than 5000 years ago. The body of the King was not found, but a magnificent decorated chariot and harp, gold and silver vessels, an exquisite toilet set and other treasures found in the grave served as proof of the extraordinary degree of civilization in ancient Mesopotamia concerning which tradition is silent and archaeologists knew nothing according to C. Estimating a Million Wage Earners Jobless, Unions Are Preparing Defensive Campaign.

By BASIL MANLY, A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Amid claims from official sources of wide-spread industrial prosperity under the high protective tariff system and the economic policies of the present administration, heads of the principal trade unions are today planning a defensive campaign based on the theory that organized wage-earners are facing a serious crisis in 1928. Since the close of the Wilson administration, the American Federation of Labor alone has dwindled in membership from 4,908,000 to 2,812,000. Figures for 1927 show a steady decline in many of the trades, with the treasures of some of the largest of the international unions practically empty. At the same time there is more unemployment than at any period since 1923. A million wage-earners are unemployed and about 2,000,000 more are working only part time, according to estimates based upon the official figures of the United States Department of Labor. To meet what they regard as a grave situation, heads of the principal labor organizations are now planning a campaign in Congress for enactment of the Shipstead bill to curb the issuance of injunctions and to provide for jury trials in contempt cases. In addition to these two immediate objectives, the program calls for carrying into the Republican House Democratic conventions next June demands for new legislation and changes in the labor policy of the Federal Government. COMMITTEE TOO EASY ON HEARST, NORRIS SAYS

Senator Is Disappointed at Mildness of Report on Investigation of Fake 'Mexican Documents.'

RAGES MOTIVES OF PUBLISHER

Nebraskan Says Great Crime of Newspaper Was Attempting to Embroil U. S. in War.

By PAUL E. ANDERSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Senator Norris of Nebraska declared today that he was greatly disappointed by the mildness and brevity of the report made yesterday by the Senate by the special committee which investigated the fake "Mexican documents" published in the Hearst newspapers. He added that he could not understand the committee's apparent tenderness for Hearst.

Speaking as one of the four Senators falsely named in the Hearst "documents" as the intended recipients of a huge Mexican slush fund, Norris said:

"I was a criminal and cowardly attempt, and I think it is lamentable that the committee did not see fit to call it by its right name. 'Naturally, I do not enjoy being slandered. However, the reputation of myself or any other individual is of small consequence compared with the reputation of a government. In this instance, Hearst endeavored to assassinate the character of the entire Mexican Government. He did it, in my opinion, for the purpose of destroying that government, which he hoped to accomplish by forcing his own Government into an indefensible war. Words are inadequate to characterize such an attempt.'

No Censure of Hearst.
The report, presented yesterday by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee, was a remarkable tepid statement of the fact that the documents had been found to be spurious, and that there was no evidence that the Mexican Government ever intended to offer money for the friendly influence of the four Senators named in them—Norris, Borah, La Follette and Heflin.

It did not contain a word of censure of Hearst, who personally ordered the procurement and publication of the "documents."

When Reed had concluded his presentation of the report, Norris told him through a series of grilling questions that he was grilling on the floor of the Senate. It was a remarkable proceeding, and Reed became plainly uncomfortable, although Norris' manner was elaborately polite and deferential.

In the course of it Norris elicited from Reed the admission that after the committee's handwriting experts had examined and pronounced the documents fakes, Reed privately communicated this fact to Hearst's attorneys, and gave Hearst an opportunity to employ experts of his own to corroborate the finding. It was thus, and not in a generous effort to assist the committee, that the Hearst experts were employed.

Reed Notified Hearst's Lawyers.
"Am I correct?" asked Norris softly, "in believing that neither Hearst nor his attorneys made any attempt to have these documents examined by experts until they were informed that the committee's experts had examined them and pronounced them fraudulent?"

"So far as I know, that is correct," Reed replied, adding that it was he who gave the information to the Hearst lawyers.

"I presume," Norris continued, "that from the vast amount of forged evidence disclosed, the committee must have reached the conclusion that some of the witnesses testifying orally committed perjury?"

"I cannot make it as strong as that. There was a suspicious coincidence between certain mistakes in the documents, and similar mistakes made on the typewriter by Miguel Avila," said Reed, referring to the little half-breed "undercover man" who obtained the documents for Hearst. "Frankly I suspect Avila, but I have not

Preaching With a Wallop—Revivalist "Billy" Sunday in Action

Sketched at the Revival Services by S. Carlisle Martin, Post-Dispatch Staff Artist

9000 HEAR SUNDAY AT TWO MEETINGS

Evangelist Discusses Politics, Family Ties and Church Inertia.

Billy Sunday showed how he could win a gathering in less than five minutes last night.

At 9:05 o'clock, although the evangelist was "shooting the Gospel" for all he was worth, a few in the rear, where hearing possibly was difficult since the amplifiers were not yet completely adjusted, were seeking the exits. Listeners seemed a bit laggard of response, although faces near the platform in the Coliseum arena were rapt with attention.

At 9:10, when Sunday had told a story or two, made a few wise cracks and swept into the essay on marriage and womanhood which closes his sermon on Jacob, those who apparently had started to leave were listening at the main entrance or returning to their seats. Nearly 6000 persons were following Sunday's words like one small boy at the feet of Babe Ruth.

"We can fly in the air like birds and across the ocean in the 'Spirit of St. Louis' but we can't write a Twenty-third Psalm," he said in his tribute to the Jewish people, and quoted, "Hail the world worships Jesus Christ, a Jew, and chuckling—the other half worships Mary, a Jewess."

Fails to Gesture With Chair.
His text was from Genesis 32-28. Jacob's night of wrestling and prayer. He did not once pick up his chair and the tiny platform was ample for his gyrations, but he told the whole story of the cheat who became a prince in "power with God and with men" with a vividness of word and gesture that made it come to life. He was graphic and strenuous impersonations of a murderous bartender and a helpless drunkard. He took a mighty thrust at the anti-prohibition volcano belching fire and ash, but pointed dig at church inertia.

"The church looks to me as though it ate too much and slept too much, and played too much over a world going to hell so fast you can't see it for dust," he said.

"I wonder that the Lord is doing as well as He is with the gang He's got to work with."

Although prohibition was a "political orphan" mothered by her daddy, the church, he declared, it was "not a failure and never will be." He added, "Anarchy begins in the flouting of a law in which we do not believe."

"Graft has got a strange hold on religion. Investigation has shown that it permeates everything nearly," he said, and went into particulars, but he doubted that the Senate had the right to deny admission to men elected by "the State's exercise of sovereignty."

"Try praising your wife even if it does frighten her at first. Maybe the poor woman will faint the first time you try it on her. If some of you fellows went a whole day without kissing your wife, she'd phone for the doctor. If you want her to be an angel, treat her like one; not like a devil."

"Love is something you can't quarantine or vaccinate. It is like lightning. You can't tell when or where or whom it will strike."

"Some men never hint that they love their wife until they're a hundred miles away—and then they send the news back home on a post card."

"How thankful we ought to be that God made one piece for us. And if you haven't got yours, it's not her fault."

Kindness to Wives.
Urging that the funeral was pretty late to give flowers, he said, "Many an old reprobate hides his wife's coffin with flowers who never gave her $5 in his life." Just to "pull the wool over some other woman's eyes."

"And there are a lot of men who never say anything good about their wives until they hire somebody to carve it on a tombstone. Oh, the mocking irony of carving on a tombstone 'At rest,' when the poor slave was worked to death."

His sermon on "Ithome," which he considers one of his best, was announced for tomorrow night. "Teach Us to Pray" was his subject for 2:20 p. m. today, and "Backsliders" for the night service, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Virtually all seats except the far balcony were taken by that hour last night. About 3000 heard yesterday afternoon's sermon on "Tharisee and Publican."

SUGGESTS SENATE ACTION ON HIGHWAY TOLL BRIDGES

Lee Orcutt, president of the St. Louis Shippers' Conference, has written to Sen. John W. Aldrich, asking him to initiate discussion and action in Congress regarding the increasing number of toll bridges throughout the country.

Several toll bridges are in stages of promotion and construction in the vicinity of St. Louis, Orcutt points out. These toll systems will impose a tax ranging from 15 to 75 cents a ton on goods shipped by truck from St. Louis to districts served by the bridges, he says.

Orcutt suggests that "some sort of an arrangement such as is now in effect in the matter of Government aid to road building could be worked out, but under no circumstances should bridges on such roads be owned and operated by private enterprise." He quotes Secretary of War Davis as saying Congress has authorized 70 per cent for toll bridges in the last five years.

WILBUR DISCLOSES NAVY HAS 20-YEAR BUILDING PLAN

Proposed $725,000,000 Expenditure Is Only a Part of It, Secretary Tells House Committee.

TOTAL COST ABOUT THREE BILLION

This Includes Items for Replacing Capital Ships—Program Calls for $168,000,000 Annually.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur disclosed today before the House Naval Committee that the Navy Department has drafted a comprehensive 20-year building program, of which the $725,000,000 program already announced is only a part.

While he did not make public the larger program, Wilbur testified, under questioning, that it provided for the replacement of battleships as soon as this is possible under the Washington Arms Treaty.

He said that the annual expenditures would be about $168,000,000, a total cost of approximately $3,000,000,000. Within a few years, he added, replacement of capital ships under the treaty would be necessary and the program had been formulated with that in view.

Representative Vinson of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the committee, asked the Secretary if the committee must take into consideration, in passing on the program already announced, the fact that an additional construction program would be necessary. Wilbur replied that it would.

"Cruisers an Absolute Need."
The Secretary's statement was made after Vinson had asked him if he believed the American navy was now a first-class fighting force.

"We need cruisers," he answered. "As I tried to point out yesterday, that is an absolute need."

"Then your position as secretary is that we have not a first class navy?" continued Vinson. "Yes," replied Wilbur.

"And to make it a first-class navy it will be necessary to have the 71 ships proposed in the $725,000,000 program?" Vinson inquired. Wilbur said that this would be necessary, but that he wished the committee to remember that the program was designed to cover needs for several years.

Division of Expenditure.
Under the $725,000,000 program, which will provide for 25 cruisers, five aircraft carriers, nine destroyers or leaders, and 22 submarines, Wilbur said that annual expenditures would be as follows:

Beginning in 1929, $55,200,000; 1930, $110,400,000; 1931, $141,000,000; 1932, $141,500,000; 1933, $139,000,000; 1934, $93,800,000; 1935, $46,600,000, and 1936, $10,400,000.

The Secretary said that either just before completion of this program, or its investment in the conclusion the battleship replacement program would begin.

"The proposed naval construction could not be regarded as competitive with other nations, Wilbur continued. He said that no nation signatory to the Washington pact could be criticized if it exceeded the 5-5-3 ratio in ships not limited by the agreement."

At the close of the meeting Chairman Butler told Wilbur that on his reappearance next week he wished the Secretary to describe "what is a first-class navy."

"You have made a statement here that will shock the country when you say that the United States has not a first-class navy," Butler said.

London Paper Estimates 8000 Families Need Aid.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The Daily Mail, after making an investigation of the flood caused by the Thames last Saturday, today estimated that at least 1800 men, women and children were in deplorable circumstances. These were people of the poorer districts below the business section of the city. They have been unable to reoccupy their homes.

The paper estimates that at least 5000 families need help from the relief funds. For relief £25,000 (roughly $140,000) has been subscribed.

MacNider Quits War Department.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Stanford MacNider turned over today his desk in the office of the Assistant Secretary of War to another man, Charles E. Robinson, whose nomination to the post was confirmed by the Senate yesterday. Secretary of War Davis sent MacNider a letter praising him as an "ideal man" for the post he relinquished.

INSTRUCTION BY RADIO PLANNED FOR UNIVERSITIES

Walter Damrosch to Deliver First of Series of Lectures in Educational Course.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Instruction by educational authorities will be available to universities and schools throughout the country by radio through a new service to be incorporated into the program of the National Broadcasting Co. and affiliated stations.

Announcement of the feature, made by H. H. Aylesworth, president of the company, said three lectures would be broadcast. The first by Walter Damrosch, New York, Jan. 21.

CENSURE OF POPE BY SOVIET MAILED DIRECTLY TO PONTIFF

ROME, Jan. 12.—The newspaper Brillante today said that a "condemnation" of Pope Pius for having "favored the anti-bolshevik movement with funds" reached the Vatican in the form of a registered letter from Moscow addressed directly to the Pontiff. The document was signed by high personalities of the orthodox synod and by Alexis N. Rykoff, Joseph M. Stalin and others.

The Pope is understood to have shown a copy of his "sentence" to all the Cardinals who are now in Rome and then consigned it to the Vatican archives as a historical document.

Brandels and Holmes in their dissenting opinion protested as "imposing restraints upon labor which remind one of involuntary servitude."

Clayton Act Impaired.

As the labor officials see it, the recent trend of court decisions has been so adverse to the status of the trade unions, particularly in connection with the issuance of injunctions during the last six months of 1927, as to make a dead letter of the labor provisions of the Clayton act, proclaimed by the late Samuel Gompers the "magna charta of labor."

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, the running mate of Gov. Smith in 1926, has been retained as counsel to resist an injunction prohibiting all members and officers of the American Federation of Labor from attempting to organize the employees of the New York City traction lines. He is one of the Senators to whom the labor groups are looking for aid in their effort to obtain new protective legislation.

The chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, Republican, favors the Shipstead anti-injunction bill, and informs the writer this measure was promptly reported for action at the present session. Its chances of passage in the House, however, appear slight.

Thinks Page Testified Falsely.
In the same manner of polite deference, Norris asked if Reed had any suspicion about the veracity of John Page, the Mexico City correspondent of Hearst, who collaborated with Avila in procuring the documents. Reed said he was satisfied in his own mind that in certain respects, Page had testified falsely.

"The Senator is a lawyer of great ability, and he is an unprejudiced man," Norris continued in most sly tones. If the Senator was convinced that perjury was committed, did it not follow that others, such as jurymen, might be convinced on the same evidence?"

Squirreling, Reed said he didn't want to make it that strong. "Now," said Norris, "I want to ask the Senator something about the testimony of Mr. Hearst. Did Mr. Hearst testify that he made a diligent search to ascertain whether the signatures of the president of Mexico on these papers were genuine?"

"As I understand it, Mr. Hearst made no search at all. He says he directed other people to do it. The fact is, that after Avila had furnished them with the first batch of papers, they put him to get other papers which would corroborate the first papers."

Then pulling himself together, Reed added somewhat tartly: "Mr. Hearst wants me to characterize Mr. Hearst's actions in this matter."

"Certainly," grinned Norris. "Why not?"

"Well, I do not hesitate to do it," said Reed. "I think that in publishing these papers, it was in concert with Mr. Hearst to exhaust every effort to establish their genuineness or falsity before he printed them, and I do not think he exhausted every effort. He turned the matter over to two trusted editors, and left the whole thing to them."

"Did he ever give any direction to these editors to submit the documents to experts for examination?" pursued Norris.

"Not until after we did," replied Reed. "As I have said, he put Avila to work to steal something from the New York consulate to corroborate the papers obtained in Mexico City."

"Then," pursued Senator Norris, "if there was some dirty work, Avila probably had done it, and in order to corroborate Avila's dirty work, they directed Avila to do some more dirty work. That was how they established the genuineness of the documents. I would like to ask the Senator whether the committee subpoenaed the telegraph companies to produce copies of telegrams which might have passed between Hearst and Avila, or Page and Avila, or Hearst and Page?"

"Didn't Try to Get Telegrams."

"No, I can't say that we did."

was the low reply.

"Did you make any effort to obtain them?" "No."

This was a painful shot, because it was well known that the committee, in the early stages of its investigation, had shown no compunction in obtaining telegrams which had passed between the Mexican Government and its New York consulate, and had even examined the consulate's bank account. It was remembered, too, that Reed's cross-examination of Mexican Consul-General Elias had been severe, almost to the point of hostility, in marked contrast to the deference which had been accorded Hearst.

The point which Norris drove home in his questioning of Reed was that if Reed had been vigorous enough in seeking for evidence which might have corroborated the documents, but that one of the four exposed as forgeries it had made little or no effort to obtain evidence which might have shown that Reed had knowledge of their forged character.

The committee called its report a "partial" one, and asked not to be discharged, in the possibility that some evidence might be disclosed indicating the identity of the persons who forged and fabricated the papers. However, unless Norris and others of the same mind press for action, it is not generally expected that the inquiry will be seriously pursued hereafter.

Vice President Davis appointed the committee. Of the five members composing it, four are from states where Hearst has from one to four newspapers, and three of the four are candidates for re-election next year. They are Reed, Johnson of California and Bruce of Maryland.

The fourth Senator, Jones of Washington, was re-elected last year, partly with the help of a Hearst paper in his state. The only member whose state has no Hearst paper is Senator Robinson of Arkansas.

FOR PRISON LABOR REFORM

Chairmen of Women's Club Committees Also for Mothers' Pension.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Efficient prison labor and establishment of birth registration areas in all states were urged today by committee chairmen at a session of the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

"We will put the support of all clubwomen in the country back of our efforts to have every state in the birth registration area by 1930," Mrs. Walter M. Miller of Missouri, chairman of the Public Welfare Committee, said. "We are also backing all mothers' pension and child labor laws, in addition to the pending prison labor bill, which will give all prisoners employment through which they may reimburse the State for the expense of their maintenance."

"I cannot make it as strong as that. There was a suspicious coincidence between certain mistakes in the documents, and similar mistakes made on the typewriter by Miguel Avila," said Reed, referring to the little half-breed "undercover man" who obtained the documents for Hearst. "Frankly I suspect Avila, but I have not

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory oligarchy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Critiques Mr. Maddox's Merit System.

THE editor of the Post-Dispatch.
THERE should be no controversy over the plan of appointing teachers in St. Louis upon the basis of merit. The Board of Education has at no time questioned this principle, but it has assailed wisely and legitimately the stupid and costly machinery which absolutely prohibits the functioning of any merit system, besides costing the taxpayers thousands of dollars.

During the past five or six weeks dozens of clerks have been compiling data from the thousands of applications, and high-salaried employees in large numbers—principals of high, intermediate, and elementary schools, and the whole supervisory force who should have been in classrooms supervising instruction—have been scoring application papers and sitting around tables in committees giving what is called an oral examination. These applicants have come from all parts of the country at heavy expense, one applicant stating that he had borrowed the money to make the trip of more than 1000 miles for a 20-minute conference, and when reaching St. Louis found, to his disappointment, no vacancies in sight.

Most of these hundreds of applicants appearing are floaters or teachers without jobs. Few good teachers are hunting positions. Prior to the installation of the present scoring machinery, the school board, through its superior talent sought by means of personal visits and contacts principals and teachers as is done in the commercial world, instead of having the applicant seeking the position; under the present system the floater or teacher whose work is not satisfactory in his home field is rushing to St. Louis for a job. Very few of the best teachers are found in this army of applicants. This system if perpetuated will soon make teaching a trade instead of a profession, since in all professions, such as the medical, legal, ministerial, teaching, etc., it is considered beneath the dignity of the profession for anyone engaged in the profession to seek patients or positions.

When we consider that these non-residents cannot enter the elementary schools; that hundreds of teachers now in elementary schools are qualified for intermediate schools; that there are but two or three dozen vacancies each year in the intermediate and senior schools to which these hundreds of applicants are eligible; that the six or seven thousand applications are scored twice a year and hundreds of applicants are given oral examinations by high-salaried employees; does it not seem that our code of professional ethics should prevent this army of applicants from making this semi-annual pilgrimage to St. Louis at great expense under the delusive machinery of the present system?

A more efficient system of selecting teachers it seems should be employed. It is now costing the citizens of St. Louis thousands of dollars each semester to fill a few vacancies which a little business judgment would do more efficiently at the cost of a few dollars. With this heavy cost to the taxpayer of perpetuating this erroneous system, is the Board of Education not justified in opposing such an administration? The whole teaching force resents this system. It is pernicious and works the rankest injustice to the St. Louis teacher or principal who is thrown in competition with the whole world, and receives no credit whatever for the rich experience in the system. Is there another business in St. Louis where favoritism and nepotism are not given to the employee with experience? Can such a plan be called a merit system? This merit system which has aroused in our teaching force a rebellious spirit and has seriously crippled the instruction now prevailing in the St. Louis schools should be resented by the parents of our children.

TO the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
A CONSTANT READER takes issue with you on your editorial, "Gov. Fuller Learns," charging you with ignorance of the subject or a biased opinion, and saying that the Post-Dispatch editorials on the Sacco-Vanzetti case have savored of redism from beginning to end.

Assuming that Constant Reader has read all these editorials, one must infer that his bias against anyone accused of being red or confessedly so is so strong that he does not consider such a one entitled to be defended when accused and convicted of a crime other than that of being red, the guilt of which was not proved. Which is all the Post-Dispatch contended. But Constant Reader evidently thinks the kings, in this case Judge Duff and Gov. Fuller, can do no wrong, especially when the victims of any possible wrong were reds.

ANOTHER CONSTANT READER.

ST. LOUIS AND THE POWER ISSUE.

There is involved in the controversy between the city and the St. Louis Public Service Company a point which should serve to illuminate for us the power issue. Senator Walsh of Montana wants the Government to investigate the financial methods of some of the power companies, and the fight which the city is making to retain control of the street railway organization in the hands of the State shows why this investigation is being urged. Gifford Pinchot says in his book on the Power Trust:

Electric power presents the greatest economic problem before the American people. Thirteen years ago Charles P. Steinmetz told the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia that long distance electrical transmission would revolutionize human life in our time, and warned us against the new evils likely to flow from electrical monopoly.

Unfortunately, the power issue is of such a technical nature that only by the homeliest illustrations can it enjoy any general understanding. The issue between the city of St. Louis and the reorganizers of the street railways is over a holding company which is seeking permission to acquire some of the street car stock. The city opposes such a transfer upon the ground that by granting the request the Public Service Commission would hand the street car utility over to a foreign corporation, an experience which it has already had with the telephone utility. In this latter case a similar foreign corporation is taking 4 per cent of the gross income of the utility as a toll for super control, a charge that is performed absorbed by telephone rates. The battle in that case was carried to the United States Supreme Court.

It is the contention of the city that the reorganizers of the street railways want this transfer of stock so they can exploit the utility and pyramid its stock as the local gas utility has been exploited. It sees no reason why the reorganizers cannot profitably operate the property with the organization they have now, and has asked to be shown why a holding company is needed. The case has been continued for the purpose of taking testimony on this point. While it is pending we might recall the words of the Federal Trade Commission, which said:

One of the problems of public interest concerning some of the large electric-power groups is the extreme degree to which pyramiding has been carried in superposing a series of holding companies over the underlying operating companies. In one instance less than a million dollar investment in the majority of the voting stock of the apex holding company gave in 1925 full control of the entire organization of the group, having scores of underlying companies and several hundred million dollars of investment. Such pyramiding not only affects the financial stability of the electric-power industry, but also has a potential relation to the more general question of an undue concentration of control in the electric-power industry. As the extensive grouping of electric-power companies often brings their business into the field of interstate commerce, it presents a problem that calls for legislative consideration by Congress.

We have no assurance that Congress or any other agency is going to do for us what we can do for ourselves. The St. Louis street car utility is in the control of the Public Service Commission. Mr. Muench, the City Counselor, thinks it should stay there. So do we. The time for us to fight is now. It will do no good after the commission has surrendered the point.

BILLYHOO.

The Rev. Billy Sunday, bloodhound of the Lord, asks no quarter and gives none. His lashing of the devil makes the righteous to reflect and the wrongdoer to quail. Hemmed in by the vice and criminality of this modern Babylon, he stands his ground in the cockpit of the Coliseum and defies the lechers, the bootleggers and the peeping Toms to come on. No nervous shivers rumble in his tummy or cause his brow to sweat or his knees to wobble.

"Against this revival," he thunders, "you will find every black-legged gambler, every dope peddler, every bootlegger, every madame of the red light, every gun man; you will find the God-forsaken hobo and every riff-raff, plug-ugly, rag-shag and bobtail of society that feeds and fattens and gormandizes upon the virtues, the manhood and the womanhood of others. Think twice if the church wants to line up with a dirty bunch like that."

Dr. Sunday knows this is a lot of bunk. The only persons opposed to his revival are some of the more staid church folk who frown upon acrobatics in the pulpit. The underworld would rather see the Hon. Billy than a flea circus. He is bigger and better and almost as agile as the educated siphonaphere. He roars like a 45 in an empty barrel and exults like a gibbering submachine gun.

The city's distinguished guest arrays against himself all the minions of evil and imagines them to be storming the very walls of Tom Packer's wrestling citadel, when, as a matter of fact, many of them are sitting with washed faces and starched bibs, waiting for a few precious crumbs from the loaf of benevolent Sundayism.

THE NAVY CONUNDRUM.

It is astonishing to learn from Secretary Wilbur and the Navy General Board that our navy is at present "pronouncedly inadequate," and that we must spend the huge sum of $725,000,000 to put it into condition. Mr. Coolidge especially must read with bulging eyes Secretary Wilbur's representations before the House Naval Committee. For less than a month ago, in his message to Congress, Mr. Coolidge took a strikingly opposite point of view. He said:

When it is considered that no navy in the world, with one exception, approaches ours and none surpasses it, it cannot be said that our country is neglecting its national defense. It is true that a cult of disparagement exists, but candid examination made by the Congress through its various committees has demonstrated that it is maintaining the most adequate defensive forces. In the present years, that it has ever supported in time of peace.

We are at a loss to explain the wide divergence of opinion between the President of the United States and his Secretary of the Navy. Has Secretary Wilbur superior information upon which he based his report to the House Naval Committee? If so, may or does a Cabinet member withhold such information from the President when he, in his annual message, undertakes to inform the people about the state of the nation? It is more likely the President and the Secretary drew different conclusions from the same set of facts. If so, whose opinion is more sound? Perhaps Secretary Wilbur is high priest of the "cult of disparagement" which the President mentions.

OUR MILK SUPPLY.

St. Louis was once officially rated close to the top among American cities in the regulation of its milk supply. Now it is rated close to the bottom. The fall is easily explained. Four years ago the Board of Aldermen passed an ordinance requiring the pasteurization of all milk. The Supreme Court held the ordinance unconstitutional, on the ground that it conflicted with a State law permitting the sale of raw milk.

That decision, legally correct, was unfortunate for St. Louis. Coupled with the fact that our provisions for inspecting milk are quite inadequate we are without means of competently controlling our milk supply and safeguarding the people's health.

Experiments conducted by our Health Commissioner, Dr. Starkloff, furnish grim evidence as to the danger of the situation. He has been feeding solids taken at random from our raw milk to guinea pigs. Something like 14 per cent of those experimental solids showed the presence of tubercles. The guinea pigs that fed on them developed tuberculosis and died.

Dr. Starkloff hoped that this disturbing proof might arouse the Board of Aldermen to the necessity of passing an ordinance which the Committee on Public Service has had under consideration for nine months. The committee has refused to report out the bill. Its explanation is that the measure is essentially the same as that which the Supreme Court killed, and its passage would, therefore, be simply waste motion. Dr. Starkloff, however, says that the pending bill is different; that it fixes such high standards for raw milk that dairies and dealers alike would prefer to pasteurize their milk as a matter of economy. In other words, the pending bill undertakes legally to accomplish the same object as the original ordinance.

In either event, the position of the aldermanic committee seems indefensible. It is inconceivable that these Aldermen would willfully expose the people of St. Louis to diseased milk. Yet that is the result of their inaction. True, most of the dairies pasteurize the milk voluntarily and comply with the highest sanitary requirements. Nevertheless, raw milk is coming in to St. Louis from tubercular cows, as Dr. Starkloff has shown, and the health of people who consume that milk is jeopardized.

The duty of the Aldermen is plain. If the pending bill is faulty they should confer with the Health Commissioner or other experts and draft a measure that will be protective and constitutional. That should be done without delay.

WHERE THE NOES HAVE IT.

King Saud of Hedjaz is a thousand-notter of purest ray serene. Here is his latest flock of bans: No tobacco. No liquor. No perfume. No gold teeth. No silver slippers. No silk socks, no silk hose, no silk nighties, no silk anything.

Hedjaz is some 96,000 square miles of sand and rock, roseless, bloomless, hopeless. It is the "land of pilgrimage." There Mecca has fretted away the centuries in her immemorial hair shirt. It is the kind of kingdom you would find anywhere, where the Noes have it.

FINISH THE JOB.

While it would be unfair to say that the investigation of the so-called Hearst documents has resulted in a whitewashing of that eminent pillar of American journalism, there is no avoiding the fact that it has so far fallen short of its chance to perform a great public service. The report of the Senate Committee, in fact, consists of two findings, which have seemed perfectly apparent to the public from the very first—to wit:

There is absolutely no evidence that Mexico has ever even attempted to bribe a United States Senator.

The so-called documents of Mr. Hearst are forgeries.

That, to be sure, does not let Mr. Hearst off without blame, but it surely does not castigate him in proportion to the deserts of one who has slandered a member of the Senate. Such thoughtful consideration for the publisher by the Senate whose good name he so thoughtlessly and mercilessly besmirched is astounding. Has the Senate committee no appreciation of the dishonor Hearst tried to cast upon the highest legislative body in the land? Or is it totally lacking in the courage of its convictions?

Nor does the report indicate that the members of this committee have even glimpsed the degradation which Hearst has brought upon American journalism, by his attempts to employ the basest variety of tactics to foment ill-will between two friendly powers. Presented with a splendid chance to scotch one of the worst practices ever engaged in by the journalism of any nation, the Senate has deliberately contented itself with voicing a few painless generalities, all carefully aimed to hurt nobody's feelings.

The committee includes in its report a request that it be permitted to continue its investigations, and promises that, if it be allowed to do so, it will render a final and more adequate report. The Senate should surely grant this request. It should give the committee every opportunity to perform a duty which so far it has palpably shirked.

THE HORNSBY TRADE.

Trading Rogers Hornsby, the greatest star in the National League, to the lowly Boston Braves no doubt has its equivalents, but they tax the imagination. For instance, imagine trading a new Ford for an old one; Senator Reed for Charles Hay; Billy Sunday's hope of the next world for an investment in Florida; Lindbergh for Levine; Calles for Avila; the Twentieth Century Limited for a stage coach; a steam-heated apartment for a sod-house; beer and pretzels for milk and crackers; dollars for dimes; whistles for pistis; Nicholas Murray Butler for Willie Upshaw; Christmas presents for bridge prizes; the Yankees for the Browns; in short, picture trading what it cost Vane and Smith to be elected to the Senate for the value of their chances of staying there, and you have some equivalent for the deal that sent Hornsby to the humble Braves in exchange for—what were the names of those two players?

While Secretary Kellogg is trying to get all nations to unite in renouncing war, Secretary Wilbur is asking Congress to build the biggest navy in creation. It certainly looks like a skin game.

HAMBURGERED.

Nicaragua Notes in The Leatherneck, Official Marine Corps Magazine.
IN operating with the two patrols that combed the territory of the crash of Thomas and Dowdell three planes were sent to Ocotol and two of them were kept there overnight for four days and the rest of the planes of the squadron were used to transport bombs and ammunition to the area of operations in Nueva Segovia, Lieut. Weir went along as flight commander. Marine Gunner Wodarczyk was the other pilot and Gunner Sgt. Kurtz, Sgt. Nash and the A. P. O. were along.

The planes made three trips a day into the area that the patrols were covering and in addition to bombing the bandits, it was our work to bring the two patrols together by the "look-see" panel system. For in the mountains and jungle-covered canyons one patrol could be 1000 yards from the other and not know of each other's presence. Each foot of the ground was stubbornly covered by driving the guerrilla bandit snipers off from all sides and the planes were invaluable in this work. So effective was this work carried out by the planes that not one single marine was lost and the patrols were credited with 120 bandits killed. That does not include the toll of the planes as the patrols could not cover the area bombed due to the impenetrable undergrowth and danger of attacks of the bandits. The only census we had of the bandits was the one taken by the patrols. The planes were invaluable in this work. American Marines went into Nicaragua at the urgent request of the Government functioning at Managua—a government formally recognized by the United States. President Diaz had announced that he was no longer able to protect the lives and property of foreigners, not only American, but British, Italian and other nationals. Intervention was officially solicited and was ordered as a matter of international duty and comity. It has continued under the Stimson compact, which aims at installing this year a government fairly elected and with an unimpeachable constitutional title.

The Coolidge Administration is simply pursuing in Nicaragua a policy based on law and on a long series of American precedents. It could do no less without running away from historic American policy and the most fundamental obligations of a sovereign nation.

1928 OPENS WITH A WAR.

From the Milwaukee Journal.
THE year starts off bravely; six marines have been killed and 23 wounded when ambushed by a force of Nicaraguan "bandits." Presumably some bandits were killed also; the marines have a habit of giving a good account of themselves. But what do the native Nicaraguans care which they are all "rebels" in the stories that come to us.

Far off from Washington, in a little village in the Midwest, a mother hears that her son is dead. "I can't understand it," she says. "I don't understand why my son should be taken to Nicaragua when there is not a war. I would gladly give him up to defend his country, but people tell me we are not in a war."

No, we are not in a war. We know that because only Congress has power to declare war. And Congress has not. Congress has rather mildly asked what the slaughter is for, and has not been answered. But the marines who fall are dead.

Is Congress, now in session, going into this? Is it going to ask what is the difference between a war and this campaign in Nicaragua? The insurgent Senators have made this inquiry one of the three things they insist upon voting on. They need not be afraid of going into this and telling the truth about it.

A DEFENSE OF THE COOLIDGE POLICY.

From the New York Herald-Tribune.
IT WOULD be foolish, perhaps, to expect Senator Hoffman to talk about the Nicaraguan situation except from the point of view of the political agitator. He is a bushwhacker eager to score a point at the Administration's expense. He condemns the President for making unauthorized war on Nicaragua or in Nicaragua. Yet he was an enthusiastic supporter of President Wilson when the latter seized Vera Cruz and engaged in hostilities with a de facto Mexican Government which he had recognized to the extent of demanding that it apologize for the Tampico incident and salute the American flag.

The United States is not making war on Nicaragua or in Nicaragua. The bandit Sandino has established no government. He has been disowned by the Liberal revolutionary movement, with which he was for a time associated. He is a freebooter. The Saca revolution was ended last year through an agreement by both factions with the United States that this country should help to pacify Nicaragua and should guarantee a fair Presidential election in 1928. Sandino is an outlaw, at odds with both the Liberal leaders and the hold-over Diaz regime.

THE INFLUENCE OF SPORT.

The charges brought against sport are too numerous and too frequently brought to require even casual exposition. Yet much interest in sports is one of the amenities of existence. The reader of the page becomes kindly, courteous, charming; he learns to put the best construction on the irritating faults of his fellow-man. Consciously, yet successfully, the sport page inculcates diplomacy and tact. Does a sailing plaster ever lose a race? He does not; it does not win it, either. He merely takes the jockey horse-back riding, but what a wealth of finesse and graciousness is in the words, "Also ran." We would say the same of the presentation of the game ball and gives the horse credit for his good intentions. Does a team ever lose a game? No; the other side wins. Of course, if he wins the other must lose, but isn't it better to say that the other team won? Finally, comes the most diplomatic stroke of all. Last year, the Browns won eight in fielding in the American League. There are only eight teams in the American League so you see where the Browns were. But the sport pages graciously allow the Browns a standing.

It costs as much to govern New York City as it does to govern all of Italy, and we consider it a safe bet that Mussolini gets better results.

Unconfirmed reports state that Secretary Wilbur says that the $100,000,000 naval program is not competitive for us.

And, we might add, where there is much smoke, there should be some fire.

Of Making JOHN G.

A Fever Dream

By H. B. Drake. (Macy-Mastin)

Ter what conditions "Cursed Be the Treasure" was written, but it is not difficult to imagine conditions under which the remarkable performance might be duplicated. First, choose a writer with a powerful and utterly undisciplined imagination and with more than ordinary skill in the use of words. For a period of six months deprive him of all meals, except one that which may be found in wildly romantic yarns featuring murder mysteries, buried treasure, ghosts, skeletons, haunted houses, secret passages, smugglers' caves, etc. If at any moment the fellow should develop symptoms of overfeeding, immediately double the ration. At the end of the feeding period force the poor chap to sleep unprotected against mosquitoes, in some pestilential swamp until he burns and shakes with malaria fever. Remove him from the swamp, dope him heavily with quinine and give him the material necessary to a writer.

If he is able to write at all, he is very likely to produce something greatly resembling "Cursed Be the Treasure."

The foregoing is by no means intended as a sweeping condemnation of the book. Any imaginative person who has experienced marauder fever should know why. He has only to remember the mad hall of burning ice ascended the spine to burst at the base of the brain, filling the sounding cavern of the mind with unexplained and unaccounted fragments of his endowments that never got done. Faced with a familiar, formed in the gaudy flux of that phantasmagoria—and suddenly they went grotesque and strange. The ludicrous aroused no mirth and the most outrageous images, no surprise. All the while something was felt that came from afar and grew bigger as it came, and certainly it would have been unbearable had it not been for the fact that it had never arrived. But it did. You were in a world utterly without the significance of rational continuity. Yet, for all the torture of it, it was not without a certain amount of interest. It was a curious, entertaining element in the retrospect.

It is no exaggeration to say that H. B. Drake builds just such a world in "Cursed Be the Treasure." You may read two-thirds of the 100,000 words in the book without the slightest notion as to what the tale may mean, where it may be going or even who the chief characters really are. Little by little, you gather that somewhere, some time, there has been a buried treasure and that every man who has been in any way concerned with it is being haunted by some malevolent influence. But you do not know who is who or what is what. If one character kills another, he certainly does when ever possible—without the killing survives or is later featured. It may be somebody else. The killing may happen at any time, and it is apparently none of Reality's business. But the strange thing about it

ADVERTISEMENT KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—puffy eyes—blisters on your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the skin of impurities. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 10c, 25c and 50c.

Pittsburgher Uses a Rare Herb Remedy to Keep the Youthful Fire Burning

"I am nearing 60 years, but I feel as young as I did at 30. I take a cupful of Bulgarian Herb (Blood) Tea once or twice a week. It keeps me healthy and strong and makes me feel young again," said H. H. Ven Schlick, prominent Pittsburgh, Pa., manufacturer.

Persons who are constipated or have rheumatism, liver, kidney or stomach trouble should use this pure vegetable remedy. It really is wonderful how soon it begins to make one feel years younger, and it costs so little at any drug store.

Why, just to break up a bad cold quickly, Bulgarian Herb Blood Tea is worth ten times its price. The rich herb juices, taken hot at bedtime, heat up the chilled blood, stimulate the circulation and aid nature to cast the poison germs out of your system.

Then the doctor recommended this

One woman, who had long suffered from a severe case of eczema, says: "For many months I was constantly bothered. I tried four or five different remedies without success. Then my doctor recommended Resinol. Almost instantly the discomfort stopped, and a week or ten days more the rash was almost cleared." Thousands of others have had the same result with Resinol. It is absolutely safe to use. At all drug stores.

TWO MEN DRIFT ALL NIGHT ON BARGE IN ICE

St. Louisans Rescued at Cape Girardeau After Perilous 70-Mile Journey.

By the Associated Press.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., Jan. 12.—A perilous 70-mile all-night ride down the ice-clogged Mississippi River on a runaway barge ended here shortly before dawn today for John H. Lamb and Cecil Hawk of St. Louis, who were carried away on the barge near Chester, Ill., yesterday.

Manning a flimsy motorboat, which he piloted among the ice floes with difficulty, F. G. Bryant, employee of a construction company erecting a bridge here, carried a line to the runaway barge and after a two-hour struggle with the ice succeeded in guiding it to the safe harbor of a cove two miles south of here.

Lamb and Hawk had seen the barge adrift and had boarded it in an effort to guide it to shore. The rowboat in which they reached the barge was crushed by the ice and the men were without equipment to direct the progress of the barge.

As the barge headed downstream, crashing against ice floes, the men called for help, but boats sent out from the bank were unable to reach them. After nightfall the men built a fire on the barge with timbers torn from the craft, in order to attract attention.

After he had been notified to watch for the barge, Bryant put out from shore as the barge rounded a point two miles north of here, but was unable to pierce the ice until the barge reached a point opposite the city.

The barge belonged to a St. Louis concern and was torn loose when the ice blockade there was broken recently.

F. B. CHAMBERLAIN ELECTED MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE HEAD

John H. Caldwell Chosen First Vice President and H. H. Langenberg Second Vice President.

Fred B. Chamberlain, president of the F. B. Chamberlain Co., manufacturers of food products, was elected president of the Merchants' Exchange at the annual election yesterday. John H. Caldwell was chosen first vice president and Harry H. Langenberg second vice president. A nominating committee, named the three men.

The following committees were chosen: Committee of Arbitration—J. J. Albrecht, J. C. Chilton, E. P. Mangelsdorf, E. J. McFarley, H. A. Von Rump.

Committee of Appeals—J. M. Adam, J. P. Berger, Ward Brown, H. L. Bondreau, Ludwig Hesse, W. J. Niergarth, L. F. Schultz, T. M. Scott, W. H. Toberman.

FIRE DAMAGES DRUIDS' HALL AND GROCERY: $8000 LOSS

Boiling Over of Glee Pot in Trunk Factory Starts Blaze; $2150 Worth of Stock Ruined.

Fire early today in the four-story building at 224 Market street caused $8000 damage to the stock of the Consumers' Grocery Co., on the ground floor and $2000 damage to the building, which includes Druids' Hall. Cause of the fire was not determined.

A glee pot boiled over at the Herkert & Meisel Trunk Co., 1213 Chestnut street, last night, and the fire that followed caused damage estimated at $2150.

Lawrence Gregory, 1919 North Thirteenth street, returned to his room early today to find his bed in flames. He aroused other roomers. The damage was slight.

C. L. SAGER HEADS AMERICAN TRUST CO.

Directors Choose W. C. Unger
To Succeed Him as Treasurer
—Other Bank Elections.

C. L. Sager, formerly vice president and treasurer of the American Trust Co., has been made president of the institution to succeed Henry H. Hopkins, who resigned Dec. 13.

Sager was acting president until the directors, in the annual board meeting Tuesday, made him president. He joined the institution in 1919 as receiving teller.

W. C. Unger, former assistant treasurer, has succeeded Sager as treasurer. Benjamin S. Lang, one of the vice-presidents, was elevated to the first vice presidency.

Following his election as chairman of the board of the First National Bank, F. O. Watts yesterday announced the appointment of Walter L. Schenkel, treasurer, as assistant mortgage loan officer, and the elevation of H. W. Heldenreich, assistant treasurer, to treasurer. Edward Bakewell of the sales force was appointed assistant sales manager, a new office.

Walter W. Smith succeeds Watts as president of the First National Bank, as he has in the affiliated First National Bank. Other officers were re-elected.

Smith and Charles E. Bascom, secretary-treasurer of the Broderick & Bascom Rope Co., were added to the board of directors of the St. Louis Union Trust Co. today. Smith succeeds the late N. A. McMillan and Bascom takes the place of his father, Joseph D. Bascom.

The Telegraphers National Bank, a labor bank, reports an increase of one-third of a million dollars in deposits during 1927, maintaining its place as the fourth greatest labor bank in the country. Its deposits now exceed $6,500,000. Officers and directors of the bank were re-elected in the annual stockholders and directors meeting Tuesday. H. Kolkmeier was appointed assistant cashier.

Officers of the Grand National Bank were re-elected yesterday, except that William C. Johnson, who was cashier, was made a vice president and Clifford J. Herbert was promoted from auditor to cashier, while Warren S. Covington and Joe V. Ledbetter were made assistant cashiers and W. G. Patton was added to the directorate.

The Federal Commerce Trust Co., affiliated with the National Bank of Commerce, re-elected its officers yesterday and promoted J. C. Walker from head of the New York office to vice president in charge of municipal bond buying here, while Thomas I. Glannon, former assistant loan officer of the Mercantile Trust Co., was elected assistant secretary. James J. Mullen, vice president of the Midway Electric Co., was added to the directorate.

New President of Sears-Robuck, by the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Gen. R. E. Wood, a vice president of Sears-Robuck & Co., has been elected president of the mail order house to succeed the late Charles M. Kittle. Julius Rosenwald, chairman of the board of directors, announced today.

How to Have Soft, Pretty White Hands

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands, as they are really the true marks of refinement. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is well recommended by good druggists everywhere.

Sour Stomach Two-Minute Relief!

Yes, those sour risings and the unsettled condition after too heavy a meal can be gone for good, in a couple of minutes. The magnesia, calcium carbonate, and other soothing things in Stuart's Tablets start to work the moment they're swallowed! And for lasting benefits, make the famous Monday-to-Sunday test.

Wherever you find a druggist, you'll find Stuart's. The handy metal box for purse or pocket (enough for the one-week test) is a quarter. The large size for 60 cts., and the family size, $1.20. A sweet stomach for twenty-five cents.

MAN IN JAIL, WIFE DESTITUTE

Family of Alleged Holdup Cared For by Charity.

Police report the 17-year-old wife and 3-months-old child of Everett Kenney, who is in jail for a series of holdups, are destitute and are being cared for at Father Dempsey's Hotel, 1420 Hogan street.

Mrs. Kenney, married in Los Angeles, Cal., two years ago, said she and her husband came to St. Louis seeking work, but failed to find it. She said after the holdup food for several days, until Kenney, becoming desperate, went out and returned with a basketful of groceries and $15. She did not ask him how he got it.

Cinderella and Her Husband Worried a Lot About Their DAUGHTER!

YOU may not have realized it, but after that slipper episode led the Prince into such a hasty marriage, he found that Cinderella was—well, let us be kind and say, "impulsive."

He wished Cinderella wouldn't call him Rex. She had an uncomfortable fondness for nicknames. He asked her to explain why she always addressed their daughter as Cereus. He knew it was a plant, of course, of the cactus family—not a flattering idea—but she laughed and said something about the flower, and when it bloomed. A brilliant woman, but difficult.

From the short story, "Cinderella's Daughter," in February Cosmopolitan.

The daughter became a problem, or rather the central occasion for debate between them. She looked like Cinderella and acted like the Prince. So each thought she needed rescue and contended for possession of her soul.

Now who, we ask, would dare so whimsically to bring up to 1928 a fairy-tale we have revered for so long? Bernard Shaw? Perhaps. But he's too old to give it so 1928 touch. Ah! John Erskine, of course—the man who dared to tell us the (as we say today) low-down on Helen, Galahad, and Adam and Eve.

Of course, he wouldn't dare do this, unless he were sure of his audience, and that—equally, of course—is why he does it in Cosmopolitan. Because he knows that in the readers of Cosmopolitan, he addresses an audience which can understand—the largest audience of intelligent readers in the world.

Are You Willing to Listen to the TRUTH?

DID YOU KNOW that General Pershing had to fight to have an American Army at all? That he had to fight to keep this army from being used as mere replacement troops and laborers in British, French, and Italian Divisions?

THAT THE BRITISH went behind Pershing's back direct to President Wilson and sought to have Pershing's power broken because he refused to accede to their wishes?

THAT CLEMENCEAU CABLED to Washington that Pershing could not get along with the French General Petain?

THAT IF IT HAD NOT BEEN for Pershing's courageous determination to have a real American Army the Allies might have lost the War?

For ten years America has been waiting for someone to tell the TRUTH of our part in the World War.

Cosmopolitan selected BRIG.-GEN. HENRY J. REILLY as the man best fitted to do this. Son of a regular army officer—the gallant Captain Reilly, killed at the gates of Peking during the great Boxer uprising—Reilly has been soldiering one way or another all his life. A year ago Cosmopolitan sent him abroad to get the basis for telling YOU the TRUTH. He begins it in February Cosmopolitan. You may not enjoy what he tells you, but you'll be interested, believe us!

Who Can Tell a Story of Love and Darling as Can Our Own Rex Beach? We should answer without hesitation, "No one." And here we have in "Don Careless" a short novel complete—a treat for lovers of red-blooded fiction such as no other magazine could—or would—afford.

Emil Ludwig told the "Inside" About Napoleon, but that was Tame—compared to what this scintillating biographer tells about HIMSELF in his autobiography in February Cosmopolitan. A feature so unusual it could be addressed only to an audience as intelligent, as understanding as that of Cosmopolitan.

Irvin Cobb Wouldn't Want That Dempsey-Tunney Referee to Cook Eggs for Him "Because," he says, "I like mine soft-boiled." And that's only one of the wisely humorous—or humorously wise—comments he makes on the great national event, in "The Battle Hims of the Republic."

Other stories and features by E. Barrington, Ring W. Lardner, Fannie Hurst, Leonard Merrick, Owen Wister, George Ade, Heywood Brown, O. O. McIntyre, Royal Brown, W. Somerset Maugham, H. C. Witwer, E. Phillips Oppenheim and Charles Dana Gibson and, in addition, three serials by Adela Rogers St. Johns, Meredith Nicholson and Peter B. Kyne.

A Note of Progress

Colonial Baking Company's Big Plant
On Gravois Ave. to Open Soon

Our new, modern wholesale bakery at 4410 Gravois avenue is almost completed and soon will be in operation. This is a bakery built because of a desire I have had to re-enter business with my son, Albert F. Welle, Jr., in our home city.

Independent of all other bakeries, our establishment is strictly a St. Louis venture, built to bake bread exclusively and to supply a product and service which may set a new high standard for the city.

At the start we pledged ourselves to construct the most efficiently arranged and best designed bakery that could be built, making possible the maintenance of perfect sanitation and cleanliness as well as exactness in all operations.

This new bakery is meeting our strictest specifications and is being fitted with the most approved and most efficient equipment available. The intention is to bake bread so fine that it will quickly make its way to the tables of St. Louis housewives and thereby bring additional business to every grocer selling it because the sales of bread will be increased by reason of the extraordinary quality of our product.

In the meantime, my regard for St. Louis grows with our bakery. My faith increases each day in this city where I grew up, and where for many years I followed the baking business. Here I am confident the effort to render a real service meets with the success it deserves.

We extend our greetings and invite you to watch our progress.

Couldn't Even Mop Kitchen—Not Heart, Just Stomach Gas

MANY THINK they have heart or lung trouble when it is nothing more than the pressure of stomach gas on these organs. Read the interesting experience of Mrs. Thompson:
"Indigestion would set in as soon as I ate. Even a little fruit caused gas. When I went to bed I couldn't sleep—just toss. If I tried to mop my kitchen I would be simply all in. Stomach gas pressed on my heart. Since I began taking Adlerika, I can eat bananas before I go to bed and sleep fine all night. I believe I could eat mals without getting any indigestion. Adlerika has made me cheerful and full of pep."—Mrs. C. H. Thompson, Christiania, Pa.

Quick Action Surprises

AS GENTLY and naturally as taking a drink of water, Adlerika acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowels, bringing immediate relief from gas bloating, intestinal stasis and chronic constipation.
The very FIRST dose of Adlerika often brings out astonishing amounts of old waste matter from the intestinal canal. This poisonous matter may have been in the intestines a long time, causing gas, headache, sleeplessness and many other symptoms. A treatment of a few weeks with Adlerika often corrects chronic constipation and intestinal stasis, so that just a small dose, now and then, keeps the intestines and stomach in a most satisfactory condition.

What Doctors Say

DR. H. LOUIS SHOUB, B. Sc., well-known New York pathologist, after laboratory tests on living subjects, states: "Adlerika very markedly reduces the number of bacteria and colon bacilli. This feature increases the therapeutic value of Adlerika, because, in addition to its intestinal cleansing action, it inhibits the growth of these intestinal bacteria."

Dr. A. J. Lancaster, a physician of over a quarter century's active experience, makes this statement: "In the treatment of gastro-intestinal disorders, (where thorough evacuation is indicated), Adlerika has no equal."

Dr. Carl Weschcke, a graduate of the world-famous medical University of Heidelberg, Germany, in his private practice, first perfected the intestinal cleanser and carminative now known as Adlerika. It is a compound of a specially processed saline intestinal evacuant with buckthorn and cascara, together with glycerine and other ingredients which expel gas and have detergent action.
Adlerika, unlike most other medicines, acts upon BOTH upper and lower bowels. It is recognized by many physicians as the one dependable remedy for gas, intestinal stasis and chronic constipation, or whenever real intestinal cleansing is needed.
Even if your bowels move every day, Adlerika may surprise you by bringing out poisonous, gas-forming matter which you would never believe was in your system.

In just a single month, over one thousand men and women wrote that they obtained wonderful relief from even a short treatment with Adlerika. Many of them said that now, after all other treatments and medicines had failed, they are at last rid of gas, indigestion, sour stomach, sleeplessness, nervousness or other trouble due in their cases to intestinal stasis. And now, these folks say, they are again able to eat and enjoy the foods they like.
No matter what you have tried for the bowels and stomach, Adlerika will surprise you.

AMENDED MEXICAN OIL LAWS GO INTO EFFECT

Companies Given One Year to Accept Provisions of Recently Enacted Act.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12.—Amendments to the Mexican Oil Laws which caused friction with the United States Government and American oil companies, became effective yesterday through publication in the "diario oficial."

The amendments, suggested to Congress by President Calles, are considered to remove American objections.
Unofficial interpretation is that the amendments remove retroactive and alleged confiscatory features of the oil laws in the constitution of 1917. The amendments were passed recently by Congress and under Mexican procedure their publication today in "diario oficial" makes them immediately effective.

Law Carries Penalty Clause.
The amended law as officially published is the same in text as sent by President Calles to Congress and as passed by Congress, but has in addition a penalty clause providing that oil companies which do not accept the amended law within one year from its publication will lose their property rights and will not have any claim on the Government in consequence.

The amended articles, numbers 14 and 15 of the revolutionary constitution, provided that foreign oil companies must accept 50-year confirmatory concessions for oil land rights they had acquired prior to the constitution's adoption and would forfeit those rights unless they applied for such concessions within one year from the date the 1917 law became effective. It became effective Jan. 1, 1927.

Text of Amended Articles.

"Article XIV: The shall be confirmed without any expense and by means of concessions the following rights: (1) Those derived from lands on which petroleum exploitation work commenced before May 1, 1917. (2) Those derived from contracts closed before May 1, 1917, by owners of surface rights or parties under contract to them for the express purpose of oil exploitation and (3) To those constructing pipe lines and refineries under concessions or authorizations issued by the Department of Commerce."

"Article XV: Confirmation of rights referred to in the preceding article must be made within one year from publication of this law. If such rights have not already been the subject of confirmatory petitions. After one year these rights (rights for which confirmation have not been sought under the amended law) will be renounced and will be without effect against the Mexican Government. Oil rights acquired by owners of surface lands (before 1917) will be confirmed without time limit. Rights acquired by contracts with owners of surface lands will be confirmed for the period of those contracts."

The privately expressed opinion of some of the foremost oil men and representatives of the American Government in Mexico City is that the amended law seems to remove the retroactive and alleged confiscatory features of the former law, but it still remains to be seen how the amended law will be applied in actual practice. The oil men say the amendments at least give them another year in which to think things over and decide where they stand.

Standing makes back and legs ache

How 3/4 of the workers in the Straus Silk Mills relieve tired muscles

"... It's as good a job as any mill worker could ask—nice people to work with, good pay, fair conditions—but a factory job anywhere is bound to be hard work."

ONLY the mill workers themselves know how legs and feet can ache and how lame backs can be after a long day walking up and down a spinning frame.

Something they must have to take the ache out—to relieve the stiffness and fatigue which might otherwise make it necessary for them to miss many a day's work.

The workers in the Straus Silk Mills in Trenton are a particularly fresh, wholesome-looking lot of women. And so we asked them what they do to prevent aching and strain from standing at a spinning frame all day.

From three-quarters of them came promptly the answer, "I never use anything but Sloan's."

Everywhere the leading remedy for muscular pain

Everywhere you go you hear the same story from people whose work brings a strain on their muscles.

Read the experience of this New York woman—

"I had such a backache I didn't know what to do. I used Sloan's Liniment, and in half an hour I was better. Now, when anyone has a pain, I say, 'Use Sloan's.'"

Another woman writes—

"The pain in my back was like a knife stab and it left me helpless. Sloan's Liniment was given me to ease the pain and I am now able to do all my own work."

Sloan's Liniment is scientific—absolutely reliable because it works by the quickest, surest method known to relieve pain. It stirs up the circulation—brings new blood right to the spot where the pain is, sweeps away the cause of the trouble.

You can get it in any drug store. A bottle that will last you a long time for 35 cents. Use it for—

Rheumatism Lame muscles
Sciatica Stiff neck Lumbago Colds and Neuralgia congestions
Sprains and bruises

A company doctor who cares for hundreds of workers every year says: "People whose work exposes them to strain or to damp and cold usually suffer from a good deal of muscular soreness. We find that Sloan's gives them quick, positive relief."

One of the workers in the Straus Silk Mills. 34 of these workers said that after a long day on their feet they find Sloan's their best help for tired backs and legs.

STONEHAM STATEMENT FAILS AS EXPLANATION OF HORNSBY TRADE

Rogers Expects to Pound New Fences At Braves' Field

That Slugger Was Victim of His Loud-Speaking Admirers, or That Deal Was Forced on McGraw by Owner Are Two Latest Conjectures on Amazing Transaction.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Rogers Hornsby has recovered from the shock of having been traded by the New York Giants to the Boston Braves, but the baseball world is still trying to work the puzzle. Dozens of explanations have been offered, but today the swap is as inexplicable as it was when announced Tuesday night.

Two new suggestions from men in baseball are that Hornsby may have been the victim of his own admirers or that the trade may have been forced on John McGraw by Charles A. Stoneham, principal owner of the Braves.

It is a well known fact that Hornsby was regarded highly by the baseball writers of New York. Last season many of them said that if John McGraw were called to Japan on business for the rest of the year the Giants probably would win the pennant. They meant that the team was winning under McGraw, better than under McGraw. Statements to that effect may have been circulated, or it may have been the case, or it may have sounded like propaganda from the Hornsby camp against McGraw. McGraw may have heard the remarks and resented them, or he may have thought that there were persons who thought Hornsby was greater than the great McGraw.

McGraw No Longer Boss? A few years ago no trade ever would have been made without McGraw's approval. In fact, no one else ever would have thought of starting a trade. But in recent years there has been much discussion between McGraw and Stoneham. There were reports a few years ago of a fight between them, and from that time over baseball business matters, Stoneham is the chief stockholder, with McGraw and Judge McQuinn minor stockholders. However, there is an agreement among the three that no one can sell his stock without the approval of the other two. New York writers say this has been the cause of frequent controversy.

Last year a New York writer told a Post-Dispatch correspondent that McGraw criticized Stoneham for not having made a better offer to Cincinnati for Adolfo Luque, indicating that Stoneham, not McGraw, was doing the big business.

Not a Financial Giant. It is well known that McGraw is not well fixed financially. He is a Florida land promoter in a big way and was soaked very hard when the bubble burst. He had pulled all his friends and many of his players into the promotion of Pennant Park, the big Florida front, and he is said to have gone broke trying to meet his obligations. Last year the McGraw anniversary banquet and ball game was said to be a benefit affair, to raise money for McGraw.

If this is true, it is possible that the Hornsby trade may have been engineered by Stoneham and forced through against McGraw's advice. Hornsby declines to believe that McGraw had anything to do with trading him or with the statement that he had been transferred "for the good of the Giants."

"I won't believe that McGraw said that or signed a statement to that effect until he tells me with his own lips," Hornsby said this morning. "I can't believe that the cordial McGraw of last fall could have changed so in such a short time."

No One Connected With the Giants Owns Stock in Braves, Says Fuchs

By Burt Whitman.

(Sports Editor of the Boston Herald.)

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 12.—"I anticipate no trouble at all in coming to a full agreement with Rogers Hornsby, our new second baseman and field captain," declared President Emil E. Fuchs, of the Braves last night, during the course of a conversation on the sensational deal, which sent Catcher Frank Hogan and Outfielder Jimmy Welsh to New York in a no-cash trade for the Ralston. "The regard to the implication that the Boston Braves are owned in part by men who have an interest in the Giants, let me say that no man who is interested in any way in the New York Giants has a cent invested in the Boston Braves."

"From the time when I bought the controlling interest in the Braves, in February 1923, up to the present, there has been no direct or indirect Giant ownership or control of the Braves. Let it also be said merely for the sake of spiking the gun—of some of these who always like to believe the worst, that I do not owe a penny to any one connected with the Giants and that my only connection with that team in a personal financial way was eight years ago when I accepted a legal fee from the club for services rendered."

"All of the Braves stock, aside from the controlling interest which I hold, is held here in Boston by reputable men, with the exception, I believe, of one share owned by a former manager of the team and a block of 80 shares held by friends of mine in Watertown, N. Y."

Moore's Appeal to Landis Fails, in Hornsby Debt Case

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12. KENESAW MOUNTAIN LANDIS, baseball commissioner, has refused to act as a collection agency for Frank Moore, Kentucky betting commissioner, who is attempting to obtain $92,280 from Rogers Hornsby to satisfy gambling debts.

Moore, attache of the commissioner's office revealed today, appealed to Landis to compel Hornsby to pay the money, which Moore says, Hornsby lost betting on horse races. Moore attempted to make collection in the courts at St. Louis, but the cases was thrown out.

Commissioner Landis told Moore that the action of the St. Louis court settled the case, insofar as he was concerned.

has recovered from the shock of the trade. He was asked who in the world he thought would play second base for the Giants.

"How the hell should I know anything about the Giants, I'm with the Braves now," he replied. "I'm going to worry now on about holding down second for Boston. I ought to do pretty well there at Braves' Field."

"They've remodeled the park and the fences are no longer out in the next county. Ought to hit a lot of home runs here this year. Then the light's better there, too. It is down there in the shell of the Polo Grounds. Those home runs will boost the number of runs driven in, too."

Answer to Stoneham. Hornsby, in answering the Stoneham statement that the trade had been made to prevent future conflict over the management of the Giants, said he would like to have a showdown with Stoneham and McGraw present to see if anything could be pointed out as evidence that he had ever caused dissension, tried to undermine McGraw, failed to obey orders, or sought the job of manager.

"McGraw made the statement himself that he planned some day to hand over the job to me," Hornsby said. "That was none of my business and I took it merely as a compliment. Say, everybody knows McGraw can run that ball club as long as he wants and anybody who thinks he can't prevent discord on his ball club is crazy. That's what makes Stoneham's statement so ridiculous."

"As for Lindstrom's statement that I wanted to dominate the team and that I caused discord, he's just a cry-baby. He always has something wrong with him in a tight series, especially if he's near the .300 mark in batting. I did say a few things to him when I was running the 'hub' during McGraw's absence, but I was just trying to give the cry-baby some other good pitcher warmed up Lindstrom started to sob. He'll always cry, whether I'm on the club or not."

BOXES HERE TONIGHT.

BRUCE REED, Of Cincinnati.

McGraw affection for Hogan as a colorful acquisition. One also can recall that the Braves had a month ago by knocking out three successive opponents. He was runner-up in last season's Buckeye State championships and in 1925 he won the State flyweight title.

New York Experts Are Not Satisfied With Explanation

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Unsatisfied with the official statements promulgated by New York Giants headquarters, baseball experts continued guessing today as to why Rogers Hornsby was sent to Boston for two comparatively unknown youngsters.

Officially, the trade which brings Frank Hogan, promising catcher, and Jimmy Welsh, outfielder, to the Giants in exchange for a fine second baseman and one of the greatest hitters the game has ever known, was "made for the best interests" of the Giants and "to avoid any future conflict in management" of the club.

That was the substance of two statements issued by the Giants' powers that be. The first was over the signatures of both President Charles A. Stoneham and Manager John McGraw. The second, by Stoneham alone, was intended as a further "explanation" of the deal which stood the baseball world on its head on Tuesday night and so far, has left it there.

In his second communique, Stoneham recalled that statements had been made that Hornsby would be the next manager of the club, and then added:

"I have never been consulted regarding this and have had no conference about the selection of a manager as Mr. McGraw retains the management of the New York club."

The sports writers contended that the only fault with Mr. Stoneham's "explanation" was that it didn't "explain." If some managerial conflict was to be feared, they asked, why did McGraw, when he was ill, appoint Hornsby as acting manager during the hottest part of the National League pennant chase last summer?

Few if any of the experts accepted the "official" explanation at its face value.

Cohen to Play Second. Suggestions that the Giants had an interest in strengthening the Boston Club were denied by officials and scouted by most observers. The idea, advanced in several quarters, that the suit for gambling debts against Hornsby had played a part in the trade, met with a similar reception. Hornsby won this suit in court.

Another view, held by several sports writers, was that the deal was arranged because of personal differences with President Stoneham, also was put before the fans. His sponsors believed the trade was made without the entire approval of McGraw despite the fact that his signature was attached to the original announcement. Neither McGraw nor Stoneham could be reached for a further statement.

Although there were rumors that the club was angling for Haglie Critz, star second-sacker of the Cincinnati Reds, it was indicated that Andy Cohen, sensation in the International League last year, would get the call to fill Hornsby's shoes.

Duluth Loses, 2 to 0. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 12.—A vicious attack in the final period, netting the Minneapolis team two goals, gave them a 2 to 0 victory over the Duluth Hornets.

INTERCITY BOUTS TO FEATURE AT AMATEUR SHOW

Ghnoouly, Doetzel and Powers Will Oppose Cincinnati Boxers at South Broadway Club.

Flyweight, bantamweight and middleweight boxing champions of St. Louis and Cincinnati are scheduled to meet tonight in three inter-city events featuring the tournament at the South Broadway A. C. Twenty-four ringsters will draw for pairings in open events.

St. Louis will be represented in the special events by Clifford Doetzel, Joe Ghnoouly and Frank Power, members of the South Broadway boxing team and senior Western A. C. champions of their respective weight divisions.

Ghnoouly is expected to encounter the toughest assignment when he tackles Johnny Brown in the bantam special. Brown won Ohio State championship honors a month ago by knocking out three successive opponents. He was runner-up in last season's Buckeye State championships and in 1925 he won the State flyweight title.

In the National A. U. Junior championship meet last March, Ghnoouly fought his way to the titular final of his class, winning five bouts in two days, but was defeated in the deciding match by Eddie Law, a Philadelphian, in an extra round.

Power, a three-time winner of Western district title honors and semi-finalist in the National Junior meet last spring, is paired with Bruce Reed in a middleweight bout, while Doetzel is slated to oppose Harold McConnell in the flyweight event.

COMPLETE ENTRY LIST FOR AMATEUR PROGRAM TONIGHT

FLYWEIGHT—Clifford Doetzel, South Broadway A. C., vs. Harold McConnell, Cincinnati. BANTAMWEIGHT—Joe Ghnoouly, South Broadway A. C., vs. Johnny Brown, Cincinnati. MIDDLEWEIGHT—Frank Power, South Broadway A. C., vs. Bruce Reed, Cincinnati. JUVENILE ENTRIES. 112-POUND CLASS—Dick Costello, Cincinnati, vs. Ed. Kelly, Cincinnati. 125-POUND CLASS—George Tomaz, Cincinnati, vs. John L. Harrison, Cincinnati. 135-POUND CLASS—Frank Power, Cincinnati, vs. Ed. Kelly, Cincinnati. 147-POUND CLASS—Freddy Kaiser, Cincinnati, vs. John L. Harrison, Cincinnati. 158-POUND CLASS—Clifford Doetzel, Cincinnati, vs. John L. Harrison, Cincinnati. 175-POUND CLASS—John L. Harrison, Cincinnati, vs. John L. Harrison, Cincinnati.

Amended Boxing Bill Approved. Measure Does Not Carry Desired Cut in Gate Tax by City, However.

The amendment to the city boxing ordinance, which would reduce the annual license fee for holding bouts from $250 to $10, and also eliminate minor taxes of fighters and seconds, but without a reduction of the 5 per cent tax on gate receipts by the city, yesterday was approved by the Public Safety Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

Promoters and others interested in the fight game in St. Louis had asked that the 5 per cent tax be cut, asserting that this levy makes it impossible to hold ring shows. At preliminary meetings between members of the State and city boxing commissions members of the City Board agreed to make an effort to cut the tax to 2 1/2 per cent. The cut, however, was not made.

In refusing to lower the 5 per cent tax, the city commission asserted that it is unwilling to give up the revenue from the tax on receipts of boxing bouts. At present no professional bouts are being held, and promoters maintain that as long as the present condition exists it will be impossible to put on boxing shows.

LITTLE NOT IN LINE FOR COACHING JOB. Reports that Louis Little, football coach at Georgetown University, was considered favorably for the new athletic director at St. Louis University were denied today by Father Schulte, faculty director of athletics.

"The rumors have absolutely no foundation in fact," Father Schulte stated. "The committee empowered to make the decision has taken no definite steps toward the selection of a director. One meeting has been held and another will be held soon but no appointment is likely for some time. There will be no meeting tonight."

Little has not applied for the St. Louis U. post and has not been approached, Father Schulte said.

WRAY'S COLUMN

The Balance Sheet.

WEIGHING what the Giants received against what they gave in the Hornsby trade, the New York side of the scales "pancakes" fearfully. Apparently McGraw and Stoneham have given up the family plate to gain the coveted harmony.

One of the pleasantest of harmonies is the listening ear by the Giants during the coming season. Unless all prognostications fall, this entrancing melody will not be heard to any extent by the Giants during the coming season.

Among the Giants' losses due to the deal appear to be the following:

- A playing asset valued at $150,000.
- A 361 hitter.
- A premier second sacker.
- A great leader.
- A wonderful box office attraction.
- A chance to finish one-two-three.
- Thousands of dollars in gate money.
- League prestige in New York City.

As an offset to this telling total of sacrifices we find as gains for the Giants:

- Two players valued at $25,000.
- A needed catcher of merit.
- A substitute outfielder.
- Salary differences of about $20,000.
- Harmony (?)

The unanswered query in this transaction is: "Who Chloroformed McGraw, when it was put across?"

Big Business. THE alleged effort to introduce "Big Business" methods into National League affairs seems to have lost some of its credibility through the unqualified denials of everybody that anybody on the Giants owns any stock whatever in the Boston Braves. The denial is confirmed by persons who have had an opportunity to view the list of stockholders of the Boston club—no Giant names appear on the roster, the Post-Dispatch is informed.

But names are nominal. Jack Sharkey to his wife, and many champions with Irish ring names, have collected guarantees under Italian monikers. Real estate holdings flourish under "straw" owners' names; and there is nothing in the creed of big business that would prevent "straw" men from holding stock.

Yanks More Open. THE big business methods connected with the other New York club were less camouflaged. When the Jake Ruppert corporation advanced $300,000 to the Boston Red Sox it was not the Yankee baseball club that made the loan, it is true. It was just a business transaction between a lender and a borrower of money.

It may, as alleged, have had no subsequent connection with the procession of stars that paraded thereafter from the Boston to the New York club until the Red Sox became a dismantled hulk and the Yanks a championship team. It may not, we say, have had any bearing—but try and convince the fans of that!

Miss Wills, Jones and Other Champions Violate Spirit of Amateur Rule, Paddock Asserts

Wealthy Jay Gould About the Only Amateur Who Has Not Used His Athletic Fame to Profit, Sprinter Says —Would Change Rule Defining Professional

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Charles W. Paddock, star amateur sprinter, declared in a signed article in the Los Angeles Evening Express: today that Helen Wills, Bobby Jones and Johnny Weissmuller all had broken the spirit of the amateur rule.

Jay Gould, long the world's court tennis champion, was named by Paddock as the only real amateur of prominence in the country. He said Gould was so wealthy an athletic reputation could not help him "in any material way."

Paddock defined an amateur as an athlete "who does not use his athletic ability or prowess for monetary consideration," and cited newspaper work done by Miss Wills and alleged real estate activities by Jones as constituting a violation of the "spirit of the amateur rule," if not indeed the letter.

"Miss Wills has drawn pictures of tennis stars and written articles for money, primarily as a tennis player who drew and wrote and not as an artist or a writer who happened to be a tennis player," he said.

"During the recent Florida boom Bobby Jones was vice president of a land corporation which bore his name. He sold real estate. Now, I ask you, if you were a dub golfer, would you rather buy a piece of property from Bobby Jones, champion of the world, and possibly play a round of golf with him, or from John Smith?"

Paddock said he was certain the stars mentioned, whom he characterized as recognized "simon-pure" amateurs, had no intention of capitalizing their athletic ability, but he contended in whatever field of endeavor they entered their athletic reputations would, in a strict sense, be certain to professionalize them.

The sprint star advocated overlooking the "by-products of competition" and urged the professionalizing of athletes only in the sports in which they receive money for competition as means to eliminate what he termed the "false fairness and hypocrisy that exists today."

SHARKEY IS IN CONDITION FOR HEENEY BATTLE

Two Physicians of New York Commission Declare Him in Excellent Shape After Examination

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Jack Sharkey is in excellent condition for his 12-round battle tomorrow night with Tom Heenev and there is no further trace of injury to his left hand. Two physicians of the State Athletic Commission, announced today after a special examination of the Boston bantamweight.

"In general, Sharkey's condition is excellent," said a statement issued by Doctors William E. Walter and Joseph S. Baldwin, who examined the ex-sailor to remove any existing doubt about his condition, following his six month lay-off since losing to Jack Dempsey last July.

General Motors Rises After Forecast by Company's Head—Recovery in Market Not General, Some Losses Being Shown.

High, 1928	188.36	147.41
Low, 1928	184.79	144.76
Total stock sales 2,080,300 shares.

By the Associated Press. — Stock prices drifted rather aimlessly in the early part of today's session and turned upward in response to the prediction of President Roosevelt that first quarter sales and profits would break all records, and a further pick-up in steel mill operations, now reported to be around 75 per cent of capacity.

The recovery, which ran from 1 to 6 points in a number of issues, and even higher in a few specialties, was by no means general as final quotations disclosed. Trading showed a marked reduction in volume, reflecting the waiting attitude on the part of many professional operators, the day's sales running just over 2,000,000 shares.

There was no change in the credit situation, call money being plentiful supply all day at the renewal figure of 4 per cent. The New York Federal Reserve Bank announced no change in the 3 1/2 per cent discount rate. The weekly report of brokers' loans, issued after the close of the market, showed an increase of $9,550,000, compared with a week ago, setting another new high record at $3,819,573,000.

General Motors Rises. — General Motors, which has been struggling for the past fortnight turned sharply upward on President Roosevelt's statement, closing nearly 3 points higher at 133 1/2. Hudson, Hupp, Studebaker and Yellow Truck preferred also advanced a point or two, but the other motor changes were largely fractional.

Despite the better trade news, U. S. Steel common appeared to meet strong selling resistance on the way up, closing only fractionally higher at 147 1/2. Independent Steels were quiet, but firm. OHS displayed a fairly firm undertone, but attempts to stage bullish demonstrations in these issues made little headway. Houston developed special strength.

Some Wide Ranges. — High priced specialties again moved with considerable volume. Midland Steel Products preferred rallied from 25 1/2 to 26 1/2 and closed to 26 1/2, up 10 points net. Christie Brown ran up 11 points to 116, closing within a point of the top. Greene Cannan Copper closed 5 points net higher at 140 after breaking 143 1/2. Brooklyn Edison, Brooklyn Union Gas, National Surety, Purdy Baking B and Warren Bros. closed 5 to 7 1/2 points net higher.

With the poor 1927 Armour report out of the way, packing shares again attracted a good following. Corn Products, Liggett & Myers, B. Oppenheim Collins, the Pillsbury Flour issues and some of the tobacco stocks were heavy. Heaviness in these issues made little headway. Houston developed special strength.

There was no change in time money and commercial paper rates.

Foreign Exchange Mixed. — Commodity markets were mixed. Wheat futures were slightly reactionary, but corn advanced a cent or more a bushel. Cotton moved up about $1 a bale. Coffee and sugar prices held steady.

Except for a 25-point jump in Japanese yen to 46.38 cents, there was little interest in the mixed foreign exchange market. Sterling cables were firm around $4.87 1/2.

W. G. MAGUIRE QUILTS AS HEAD OF ST. LOUIS GAS & COKE CO. — Succeeded by M. D. Curran: Remains a Director and Chairman of Power & Light Corporation. — W. G. Maguire has resigned as president of the St. Louis Gas & Coke Corporation, to be succeeded by M. D. Curran, vice president and general manager. It was announced today at the company's offices in the Telephone Building, Maguire will remain a director of the Telephone, Power & Light Corporation, of which the coke and gas concern, which operates 30 coke ovens and two blast furnaces at Granite City, is a subsidiary.

Loans to Brokers and Dealers Up $9,550,000. — WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The Federal Reserve Bank today reported that the loans to brokers and dealers had increased $9,550,000 from $3,810,000,000 for the week ending Jan. 11, to $3,819,573,000 for the week ending Jan. 12.

Canadian Gold Still Comes. — NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The gold from Canada which began in December, 1927, with a shipment of $2,500,000, today with a shipment of $2,500,000, was received yesterday for the first time.

SHARES SOLD

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Total sales 2,080,300 shares, compared with 2,205,400 yesterday, 3,401,100 a week ago and 1,544,000 a year ago. Total sales from Jan. 1 to date 21,287,200 shares, compared with 14,261,400 a year ago.

BABY KEPT ALIVE BY ARTIFICIAL BREATHING

Crew of Firemen Continue Respiration During Transfusion Operation.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Kept alive for 21 hours by efforts of a lung motor squad of city firemen, 1-week-old George Smith received two ounces of blood from his mother's veins today at the Chicago Memorial Hospital. The firemen continued the artificial respiration for the infant during the ambulance ride and the transfusion operation.

Doctors said the baby had "a long chance" to live. "Two ounces of blood already have improved the baby's condition," said Dr. Bernard Portis. "He is beginning to squirm a bit; his color is almost normal and his breathing is more rapid and deeper." The transfusion operation required only five minutes. It was made through the baby's head.

Several days ago the baby underwent an emergency operation for an obstruction of the liver. Yesterday when little George suddenly became still and life seemed to have departed, Mrs. Joseph Smith, the mother, called the firemen.

Unaware of the nature of the call, the firemen responded in high boots, armored hats and other paraphernalia, but only the lung motor squad remained.

The firemen labored 18 hours before they fanned to expression the tiny spark of life which lingered in the infant and when doctors took charge of the situation, some who were exhausted threw themselves on the floor of the Smith home for a brief rest.

Twelve tanks of oxygen had been used when the firemen were heartened by a faint return of color to the infant's face and a fluttering of the eyelids.

The baby was the first in the Smith family in 17 years. There are five other sons and daughters, ranging from 17 to 22 years.

G. O. P. Campaign Body Re-elected
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana has been re-elected chairman of the national Republican Congressional Committee, which supervises the campaigns of Republican candidates for the House. The committee also re-elected Representative Tilson of Connecticut, Smith of Idaho, and Wurzbach of Texas, vice chairman; Representative Wason of New Hampshire, secretary; Earl Venable of Idaho, executive secretary, and Robert V. Fleming, president of the Riggs National Bank of Washington, treasurer.

DYSKI-NESIA

Dyskinesia or habitual constipation wrecks more health every day than any other single thing. It saps strength and vitality, causes serious diseases of the stomach, kidneys and heart, brings on high blood pressure and makes you old years before your time.

The insidious condition of Dyskinesia is the result of our abnormal habits of living which place too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becoming weak or sluggish fails to supply the bowels enough bile. The bowels "tie up" and the poisonous wastes retained affects the whole system including the vital organs.

The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as medical men now know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to internal cleanliness and health.

Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few soon tell.

Ensembles for the Winter Sports

They Are Severely Smart
In Line but Glow With Color—Velveteen Skirts Favored on the Ice.

By Anne Avery-Ames.

CANDIDLY speaking, winter sports have long been the pursuit of the very few and have never made so noticeable a dent in fashion recording, but this year they are recognized socially in the Ice Carnival, to be presented the coming month at Madison Square Garden. At this carnival the Ice Club, whose membership list includes New York's society women, and, of course, Irving Brokaw—crack amateur skater—will show New York how to skate and what to wear. It has become quite the thing this winter to substitute the hour on an indoor rink for the gym class, and the best club in town has a waiting list for restricted membership.

Whether you are going tobogganing at the Chateau Frontenac, playing ice hockey at the club or merely trotting out to Central Park for a Sunday spin, there are correct costumes to wear. As winter sports are largely a matter of spills and bumps, it is advisable to choose only practical clothes, even though one has a secret wish to dress in the white and sparkly costume of Charlotte, the ice danseuse.

The costume for skating and tobogganing has become as traditional as a riding habit. Long fitted or jodhpur breeches tucked into sturdy, leather-laced boots, felt jacket, a long woolen scarf, cap and gloves to match—this is the fashionable and proper outfit. It is not, of course, obligatory. If the size of one's figure or one's legs as nature made them, make trousers inadvisable, the very short circular skirt worn with the sweater and other accessories is a better choice. Trousers, however, are the most comfortable in a sport where entanglements are half the fun.

There Are Variations.

There are variations of this costume shown in the Fifth Avenue shops: sleeveless coats worn over sweaters (these look a trifle chilly), or leather coats worn with long trousers. Illustrated is a skating costume with knee breeches and socks reaching almost to the knee. The most usual coat is the belted coat of the same material as the trousers.

The accepted materials for the skating suit are those which shed snow most readily and which keep out the cold—gabardine, covert cloth, wool jersey, basket cloth and, less often used, khaki. Velveteen in black, in vivid scarlet and bright blue makes gay tobogganing costumes, but it is necessary to wear very warm underwear beneath this fabric.

Skirts are always circular for ice skating and ice hockey. Tweed, flannel, velvet, velveteen and wool jersey skirts are very short and wide enough to allow the greatest freedom. Underneath, one wears snug bloomers of jersey or flannel, or, never still, of a washable chambray. The turtle-neck blouse of leather or suede is newer than the turtle-neck sweater to wear with the skating outfit and, as these blouses come in almost as great a range of colors as the knitted sweaters, they make just as gay costumes. Belted leather coats are smart and new this year for all outdoor sports. If a sweater completes the skating costume, an under sweater is always worn for warmth.

More Vivid Costumes.

Vivid colors will enliven the Canadian and American scene this season, for while the French keep to gray and navy blue, suits in orange, marine blue and bright green with the woolen accessories entirely in white are chosen by American sportswomen.

For costumes of this sort, it is possible to buy the accessories complete in sets: cap, scarf, gloves and socks with the same plaid or figured pattern used throughout. The beret of wool jersey or velveteen can add a gay touch of color to the navy blue, gray-blue, red or black of the outfit. A new wrinkle is the beret and gloves of leather to match the leather coat. And while we are on the subject of winter outfitting, I am delighted to see that someone has a solution to the icy pavement nuisance. Shoe shops are showing trim boots in shiny black and tan leathers which will keep one's feet warm in below-zero weather. These are not stormy-day boots, but real shoes into which you slip your feet and which fit as neatly as slippers.

For open-car driving, fur-lined leather coats are smart and wind-proof. For this purpose and the various sports these leather coats have had a come-back this season which is due perhaps to the interest in aviation.

HELPS FOR MOTHERS

By Emilie Hoffman

DISOBEDIENCE is universally faulted as the outstanding fault of present-day children and youth. It is also generally conceded that parents are largely to blame for this. It is safe to say that the aversion or indifference to authority is always the result of faulty home training.

No thoughtful mother would demand blind obedience from a child, but many mothers, in their efforts to get away from this undesirable child training, go to the other extreme and permit their children to follow their own inclinations. Any intelligent parent will realize the futility of such training, but even intelligent parents are in many cases responsible for the disobedience of their children.

They teach their children self-reliance and independence. These are two excellent traits, but they should not be stressed to the exclusion of parental authority. It is the desire of parents that their children become good and useful men and women. To attain this they must train them to respect authority.

This training must begin in infancy, and if wisely and consistently taught, will be an asset to the child throughout life. A mother would probably resent the accusation that she causes her child to be disobedient, but how about when you tell Junior to come into the house at a certain time and he fails to do it? Sometimes you will reprimand him, but most times you will overlook the delinquency. Do you ask your child to do a thing and then excuse him for not obeying your command, because he forgot about it? Do you ever threaten him with a punishment for disobedience and fail to carry it out? Do you give a command and then change your mind about it without an explanation to the child? If you do, you have the bad habit of inconsistency to overcome in yourself before you can expect obedience from your child.

The BASY method is the easiest, simplest, most hygienic and pleasantest ever devised. It calls for no strenuous exercise, no medication of any kind.

FABLES for the FAIR

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

LOVE'S OLD SWEET SONG

ONCE upon a time there was a young woman who wanted to get married. So she decided that she must be as beautiful as possible. Nature had equipped her with fine eyes, a cupid's bow mouth and a charming profile. She proceeded to assist nature by achieving the slim, fashionable figure.

By decking it with the smartest frocks. By getting the latest thing in bobs. By learning and applying a most artistic makeup.

She expected young men to favor her with a "line" Or enthusiastic tributes to her eyes, hair, complexion and general appearance.

She remembered how adoring youths of an earlier day Had written sonnets to their lady's eyebrow.

And, while she was willing to make allowance for a jazz-and-radio civilization—

While she didn't demand poetic tributes to her beauty—

She thought that it ought to make her truly a "belle."

And that it would attract other compliments and proposals in prose.

As flowers attract bees. She conducted her matrimonial campaign along these strategic lines.

She lost. Once upon a time there was another young woman who wanted to get married.

She confessed that "beauty is only skin deep."

That "fine feathers do not make fine birds."

That "handsome is as handsome does."

In fact, she believed ALL the defense-mechanism maxims Invented by the plain but worthy. Especially she was imbued with the notion

That, while a man may like to play around with beautiful, frivolous girls,

When he is ready to marry he chooses for a wife

A real, old-fashioned girl, Who knows how to cook, sew, keep house, save money,

And just adores doing all these things. So she learned how to be an excellent cook.

She confessed that she made most of her own clothes

And saved money by doing so. She coyly let fall that she liked nothing in the world so much as keeping house.

And that she'd just love to fix up and take care of a little home all her own.

Let the other girls divide their time between business and night clubs—

SHE was different! With this bait she tried to land a husband.

She failed. The mother who still another girl who wanted to get married.

And who had heard that the man of today likes a good sport.

So she concentrated on being athletic.

She played an excellent game of tennis. She was captain of her basketball team.

She did a swift crawl. She skated whenever the weather gave her a chance.

She was a good golfer and she drove a car better than her brother.

In this fashion she played the game of getting a husband.

She was beaten. Then there was the would-be feminine candidate for wifehood

Who thought her best bet was being a good pal;

There was another who had a notion that petting was the surest way of driving man to commit matrimony.

There was the superlatively good dancer

Who counted on dancing her way into a permanent partnership; There was even a rash specimen of femininity

Who conceived the idea that a man really desires and appreciates brains in a woman.

And that she could capture a husband by the development and display of intellectual brilliance.

They were all wrong. Finally, there was—there still is—a lady named Kathryn.

Who lived in Chicago. And who—like the other young women we have mentioned—wanted to get married.

The difference is that Kathryn DID get married—early and often. In fact, Chicago recently was the scene of a meeting

Of Illinois Local of the International Union of Husbands of Kathryn.

Four members attended. Two others were out of the State and one was in his grave.

"Sure Kathryn's my wife," said Michael Dornach, factory foreman.

"She's been away visiting several months."

Another husband, Alexander Kerman, consulted Albert Obzudt, steel worker.

Whose name and address he had found in Kathryn's notebook.

"We're married," averred Albert. "Kathryn's my wife," supplied Stanislaw Strzizemsky, furniture maker.

(Can any woman blame poor Kathryn for wanting to change that name?)

So the four husbands went to the prosecutor's

And had their quiet-looking drab

ELINOR GLYN TELLS HOW TO WIN A MAN

FORCING THE ISSUE.

GIRLS have a habit of putting a pistol to men's heads, so to speak—and by this method they more often than not lose their hearts' desire. The occasions are very rare when it is wise to insist upon forcing a definite issue. It is far cleverer to make yourself so attractive that the man does all the chasing and is allowed to drive himself to a decision through the potency of his own desire. Men are strange creatures and hate to be driven into any corner. They hate to be forced into a decision by the girl. They love to feel that they are masters of the situation and can throw the handkerchief when they feel inclined, even though in their hearts they may not be sure the handkerchief is going to be picked up.

Over and over again Milly or

Gracie makes Bob or George a definite decision when the danger of losing him is so great that all probability, if they had left alone to choose their own time the results would have been the girls. But when they agree, and then get out of it soon as their wits show them the danger, they are not really interested in you as a person but only as a means to an end. Girls, in all your dealings with men, remember that when you really interest them you are interested in them—just as they are interested in you. It is not the issue actually matters to you more than it does to the man, who is generally contented to drift with the eventuality and let chance decide. So it is then you must be content to show your overbearing but to concentrate upon your own attractions, for then you are a voluntary slave instead of a slave to a captivate!

Climbing Waistline Alarms Dowagers

WOMEN whose waistlines are no longer of Venus de Milo proportions view with growing concern the upward and inward trend of belts and girdles which every day become more obvious in Paris.

Normal waistlines are the general rule now for costumes with flaring silhouettes. Even straight silhouettes are sometimes broken by a pulled-in belt placed well above the hips. Despite the prevalence of the higher-waisted dresses it is usually the slender woman who wears them. The others are waiting for style trends to force them to it.

Sports costumes are a shade more elaborate this year than before.

Tenant's Daughter Is Cotton Queen

THE cotton queen of Tennessee, the daughter of a tenant farmer.

Seventeen-year-old Ruby Williams won the crown by raising three bales of cotton on one acre of land. She deposited the bales, 18 years old, also of bales, who obtained two and a half bales from an acre in 1930. She was the first to win the title of 246 pounds was used as a basis of deciding the annual cotton queen contests.

Both the new and the old queen will go to Havana, Cuba, as guests of a company manufacturing nitrate, a product used in the tilting cotton lands.

Don't over-exert—correct the cause

Some can reduce by starvation or abnormal exercise, but the way is long and hard. Not one in ten of the over-fat has the patience to continue. And even then the best efforts may fail unless the inner cause is corrected.

Over twenty years ago scientific men discovered a great cause of excess fat. They found a substance which Nature employs to turn food into fuel and energy rather than into fat. They proved that an extra supply of that substance could check the formation of fat.

That substance was embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for two decades—millions of boxes of them. Now you can see in almost every circle how much they have done for beauty, health, and vitality. Doubtless some of your friends can tell you. Slenderness prevails today, fat is the exception.

The use of Marmola requires no abnormal exercise or diet, though moderation helps. Users simply take four tablets daily until the weight comes down to normal. They combat the cause.

Try the help which has done so much for so many. You owe that to yourself. You cannot afford to stay over-fat when reduction is so easy and so pleasant. Watch the results, then tell your friends, as people have for 20 years been doing. All your life you will be glad that you know Marmola. Go order now.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his house.

The Pleasant Way to Slenderness

I love the way this hard-water soap washes clothes whiter —and the way it saves the clothes!

WOMEN everywhere say the same about Rinso, the safe, granulated hard-water soap.

Never was there a soap that brought clothes so bright and gleaming from the washer or tub, they say. And with such little work! Why, even boiling isn't necessary any more.

No wonder women are enthusiastic! They are all agreed that it's the suds that make Rinso different.

Rinso suds are so rich and creamy, your hands get lost in them! Lively, lasting suds that clean, clean, clean.

No matter how hard the water is—Rinso makes it soft as rain.

In washers—great!

To show their machines at their best, to show the whitest wash ever—more than 32,000 washing machine demonstrators use Rinso! And Rinso is all they use—no bar soaps, chips or water softeners.

The makers of 32 leading washing machines say, "Use Rinso for safety, and for a whiter wash!"

Rinso is so safe! Contains nothing to injure the finest cottons or linens.

Try it next washday! Get the BIG package. For economy and best results, follow the easy directions.

For tub washing, too

Rinso actually soaks clothes whiter than hours of scrubbing. In its soft, creamy suds, dirt and stains float right off. Even grimy cuffs and edges become snowy with little or no rubbing. This gentle way saves the clothes—and saves your hands, too. Try it!

TEACHING T WHO HAS

By Chas. A. L.
Former President of the Am.

YOUR child may have had sight, if so, it has a distinct handicap in school. If the defect is not corrected—as it may be in the majority of instances—the child must inevitably become the victim of headaches, nervousness and failure in class standing.

Normal children have had their education cared for since the early Colonial days. Every State now makes some provision for blind children, usually a very good one. The child who is neither normal nor blind, however, often falls between two stools. The very name by which they are known—"semi-blind"—is a handicap in itself, but there are no other phrases which properly describe them. The arrangements for teaching them are still very far behind the educational facilities open to other American children. Nevertheless, we are informed by Rose Kyle Hoskins (Nation's Health) that, since the problem was first attacked in 1913, 229 classes have been started for the teaching of this particular class of children. Although the development of the movement has been slow, because of the dearth of trained workers and the lack of equipment, the experimental stage is past, and sight-saving classes will soon be a part of every efficient school system.

Now it seems that the numbers which require special classes are about one child in every 500. It has been found that they vary with the local sanitation and the efficiency of the school, medical inspection.

The types of eye diseases in these classes are two. In the first group are congenital cataracts, cataracts at birth—astigmatism, difficulties in focusing and opacities of the cornea, spots on the front of the eyeball.

In the second group are the gradually increasing difficulties which accompany myopia, or extreme short sight. The trouble is that children with this sight do not attend a special class, but belong to the regular grade room, for all oral lessons and everything

TEACHING THE CHILD WHO HAS BAD SIGHT

By Chas. A. L. Reed, M. D.

Former President of the American Medical Association.

YOUR child may have bad sight. If so, it has a distinct handicap in school. If the defect is not corrected—as it may be in the majority of instances by carefully adjusted glasses—the child must inevitably become the victim of headaches, nervousness and failure in class standing.

Normal children have had their education cared for since the early Colonial days. Every State now makes some provision for blind children. The child who is neither blind, however, often falls between two stools. The very name by which they are known—"semi-blind"—is a handicap in itself, but there are no other phrases which properly describe them. The arrangements for teaching them are still very far behind the educational facilities open to other American children. Nevertheless, we are assisted by Rose Kyle Hoskins (Nation's Health) that, since the problem was first attacked in 1913, 25 classes have been started for the teaching of this particular class of children. Although the development of the movement has been slow, because of the dearth of trained workers and the lack of equipment, the experimental stages is past, and sight-saving classes will soon be a part of every efficient school system.

Now it seems that the numbers which require special classes—a number to which your child may belong—are about one child in every 500. It has been found that there is a very close connection between the eye and the local sanitation and the efficiency of the school medical inspection.

The types of eye diseases in these classes are two. In the first group come congenital cataracts, cataracts at birth—astigmatism, difficulties in focusing and opacities of the cornea, spots on the front of the eyeball.

In the second group are the gradually increasing difficulties which accompany myopia, or extreme short sight. The trouble is that children with poor sight do not attend a special class, but belong to the regular grade room, for all oral lessons and everything that does not require reading and writing. For work involving the use of the eyes—especially eye-strain, however, they meet in a classroom, the lighting conditions of which are as near the ideal as possible. They prepare their work with the assistance of large type books, big broad chalks and a teacher trained to assist them according to their individual needs. Naturally, no teacher can deal with more than a very few such pupils at a time.

Each child is regularly examined by an oculist. He advises the teacher on what work is most suitable. He determines when the glasses should be worn and when the child should be re-examined. This close supervision is essential, because children do not treat their glasses with the respect that grown-ups do. They are quite apt to carry them in the hip pocket along with marbles and nails, and every scratch on the glass means an improper refraction. The slip of a lens in the frame means a great strain on the eye. No mother, nor even teacher, can really exercise a supervision minute enough to cover accidents of this kind.

Teaching in sight-saving schools is a new and as yet uncrowded vocational field. The work has the great advantage of allowing a close individual knowledge of each child. It calls for special qualification and, therefore, a considerably higher salary scale than that paid to ordinary grade teachers. The teacher of this type must have some fundamental knowledge of optics, of the anatomy of the eye, of the physiology of vision, and at least observational aptitude in detecting eye disturbances as well as their local and constitutional consequences. Such a teacher must also have a mastery of the special technique called for in giving sight-saving instruction.

Who knows but that out of this new departure shall come a revision of our general teaching methods? Why, as far as possible, should not all teaching, be sight-saving teaching?

Children's Bedtime Story

Speckles the Starling Is Brought to Trial

Judge not until you know all facts Pertaining to the prisoner's acts.
—Old Mother Nature.

THE trouble with most judgments is that they are based, not on all the facts but on only a few of the facts. You know how it is that a boy or girl can do something naughty and still not be a bad child. And a bad boy or girl can do a nice deed and still not be a good child. Nobody is good all the time and very few are bad all the time. So, in judging others, we should remember these things.

Speckles the Starling had been disliked ever since he had been in the Old Orchard to live. He and Mrs. Speckles had been outcasts among the other feathered folk. Nobody wanted anything to do with them or would have anything to do with them. They were gossiped about by all the other feathered folk. My, my, how they were despised about!

Tommy, the Chickadee was the only one who stood up for them. He didn't really stand up for them. What he did stand up for was for fair play. Tommy is a very wise little bird. Everybody loves him. He is cheery and good-natured and happy all day long. It was Tommy who suggested that perhaps they didn't know all they ought to know about Speckles the Starling. He was laughed at and made fun of. But he insisted that he was right. He insisted so persistently that finally it was decided to put Speckles on trial. The air, it was decided to put Speckles on trial. That is, it was agreed to do so, provided Speckles would go on trial, or provided they would make him go on trial.

When the idea was first suggested to Speckles he refused promptly and he got quite peevish about it. Yes, sir, he got quite peevish about it. He said that what he and Mrs. Speckles did was no business of their neighbors. He said he could attend to his own affairs, and he invited his neighbors to attend to theirs. Speckles got very indignant indeed.

So then it was decided that Speckles must be made to stand trial. Sammy Jay agreed to bring him to trial. Blacky the Crow said he would act as judge. All the other feathered folk agreed that they would tell what they knew about Speckles and his ways. That is, all agreed to this excepting Tommy the Chickadee. So it was agreed that Sammy should at once go about bringing Speckles to trial in the Old Orchard.

Now this is the way that Sammy went about it. He waited until Speckles was over in the Old Orchard. Then he picked a quarrel with Speckles. You know, Sammy delights to pick quarrels with other people, and Speckles is just like him in this respect. So there was no trouble at all in picking a quarrel. Now, you know what a quarrel leads to, or is very likely to lead to. It is very likely to lead to a fight. That is just what happened this time. In no time at all Sammy Jay and Speckles were fighting. It was a good fight while it lasted. Speckles is no coward. He fought and he fought hard.

Meanwhile Sammy Jay was screaming at the top of his lungs. "Thief! Thief! Thief! Fight! Fight! Fight!" That brought everybody within sound of his voice, just as he knew it would. Pretty soon all the little feathered folk were gathered about the two fighters. Sammy was a little bit the bigger and a little bit the stronger. After a while Speckles tried to get away, but the others wouldn't let him. So at last Speckles was so tired out that he just couldn't fight any more, nor could he fly away. Then Sammy Jay stopped fighting.

"Now," said Sammy, as he tried to smooth out his ruffled feathers, "we'll have a trial." He turned on Speckles fiercely. "If you are wise," said he, "you'll answer the questions and answer them fully."

Frying Pan Vindicated

FOLLOWING experiments just completed by the University of Chicago, A. C. Ivy of the Department of Physiology and Bessie O'gress of the Department of Home Economics assure us now that "fried foods move just as rapidly through the stomach as boiled foods, and cause no blocking of the gastric secretions, as has been alleged," says Popular Science Monthly.

Testing fried and boiled potatoes in pancreatic juice, they found the fried variety responded more readily to digestive processes. Steeped in an excess of fat, however, gastric disturbances resulted. Similar experiments proved good pie digestible.

Brilliant, But a Heartbreaker and a Blackguard

FIGHTING FOR THEIR LIVES

LOVE MAKING SAVED HIM FROM THE SCAFFOLD

NAME A BYWORD FOR WORTHLESSNESS

By Albert Payson Terhune.

TWO men stood, sword to sword, fighting for their lives one moonlight night in the Seventeenth Century's third quarter. Nearly a singularly handsome boy held the horse of one of the two combatants and watched the duel with eager, pleased interest.

One of the two duellists was the Earl of Shrewsbury. The other was a gorgeous, dressed nobleman, known from one end of Europe to the other as the "infamous" Duke of Buckingham, wickedest and most brilliant man of his day. The "boy" who held the Duke's horse was no boy at all, but the notorious Countess of Shrewsbury. She had eloped with Buckingham, disguising herself as a page.

Her husband had pursued the fleeing couple and had caught up with them. He and the Duke had dismounted from their horses and had drawn their swords to adjust the quarrel after the stern custom of their times.

The Countess showed no fear at prospect of a fatal outcome to the fight. She hated her husband and she knew Buckingham's skill at fencing. So, holding the Duke's horse, she awaited the result of the duel with keen enjoyment.

Nor had she been mistaken in forecasting that result. After a fierce attack, Shrewsbury's strength waned. A thrust from Buckingham's sword stretched him dead on the ground.

Another version of the story is that the duel was pre-arranged and that the Countess, wishing to see her husband killed, disguised herself as a page in order to witness the combat unrecognized.

George Villiers, second Duke of Buck-

ham, heartbreaker and all-around blackguard, eldest son of the Duke of Buckingham who was the favorite courtier of Charles I, and who was made known by Dumas in "The Three Guardsmen." The young man began his career as a soldier in the English civil wars that later robbed Charles I of crown and head. Buckingham escaped to Antwerp and prudently refused to return home at Parliament's order. His estates were ordered confiscated and part of them were turned over to Lord Fairfax, one of Oliver Cromwell's foremost soldiers and statesmen. But what Buckingham had lost by a turn of politics he won back by his skill at love making. He returned to England, braving Cromwell's wrath, and laid siege to the heart of Fairfax's daughter. She married him. His powerful father-in-law's protestation saved him from death on the scaffold. Cromwell, however, while sparing his life for Fairfax's sake, had Buckingham thrown into prison. Once more the Duke's charm saved him. For, according to most historians, he proceeded to win the love of Cromwell's favorite daughter. And, supposedly, through her influence, his imprisonment was lightened until it became merely nominal.

After Cromwell's death Charles II became King of England. He was as fond of the young heart-breaker as his beheaded father had been of the first Duke of Buckingham. He restored Buckingham's estates, gave him high office at court and in the State councils and was his bosom companion.

EVEN in that vile court, ruled by a vile King, who set its pace in every form of dissipation, Buckingham's misdeeds often aroused horror. Few women could resist his magnetism, wit and dashing good looks. He didn't know the meaning of loyalty or honor. And, as in the duel with the Earl of Shrewsbury, he was always ready to back his villainies by mortal combat. When a fight was not possible he is said to have stooped more than once to the hiring of assassins to put rivals or enemies out of the way.

But for the man's abominable character and the fickleness that marred his every personal or political venture he might have risen to great heights. Instead, he chose to squander his time in love-making and in dabbling cleverly but more or less uselessly, in literature, music, alchemy and statesmanship.

A clash with the King—through jealousy in a love affair or because of political differences—led Buckingham to withdraw from public life. He retired to his country estate, his fortune squandered, his health gone, his name a byword for worthlessness. And there, in poverty and semi-disgrace, he died in 1633. Says Hume:

"The Duke of Buckingham possessed all the advantages . . . but by the wild conduct (unrestrained either by prudence or principle) he found means to render himself, in the end, odious, and even insignificant."

London Women Take Up Apache Hat Fad

THE rakish effect is the thing in women's hats in London just now. Most of them are "apaches" in shape and designed for the young.

Tight-fitting, most of the "apaches" are similar to a tam-o'-shanter and may be pulled down on one side, leaving one eye covered. Another "apache" effect is more like a helmet.

Another new model is a hat which takes the shape of the head, is tight fitting and has been described as a sort of skull hat with a new-fangled veil.

THE FIRST LADY OF INDIANA

MRS. ED JACKSON abandoned a career of religious educational work to become the wife of Indiana's governor.

As Mrs. Lida J. Pierce, she went to Washington from her home in Osawatimie, Kan., when her husband became secretary to a Kansas senator. Pierce died, and she accepted a position as secretary of the board of missions of the Christian Church. Her work took her to Indianapolis, where she met Ed Jackson, then secretary of state, and they were married.

Since becoming the first lady of Indiana she turned her energies into the undertakings of Indiana to erect memorials to Nancy Hanks Lincoln at Lincoln City, Ind., and to George Rogers Clark.

Mrs. Jackson is a member of the Indiana Press Club, by virtue of her long period of religious writings, and the Indiana Women's Republican Club, the W. C. T. U., and other organizations.

The Piano Tuner Says

Drafts and extreme heat or cold are quite as harmful to a piano as they are to a human being, so a piano should never be placed too near a fire or a window.

Having the piano against the wall deadens the sound; so do piles of music and ornaments on top of the instrument.

You can test the correct piano temperature of the room by having a growing plant there. As long as the plant thrives the temperature is all right for the piano.

The keys should never be washed as this discolors the ivory, and furniture polish should never be used on the piano, just use a chamolix wrung out of warm water.

It injures the action of the piano to raise the keys in dusting or allowing children to raise them.

MARINES KILL TEN MORE OF SANDINOBAND IN AIR RAID

Flyers, Operating With Land Forces, Disperse Insurgents by Dropping Bombs.

FOUR OF SOMOTILLO DESERTERS ARE SLAIN

Civilian Interpreter for U. S. Forces, an English Soldier of Fortune, Shot to Death.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — Marines Corps aviators operating in conjunction with land forces against Gen. Sandino in Nicaragua have killed 10 more of the latter's forces by aerial bombing, according to a message to the Navy Department from Rear Admiral Sellers, commanding the special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters.

The message said the aviators on Wednesday located a group of Sandino's followers at Laña Vista near the point where they ambushed Marines Jan. 1. The bombing attack followed another on Tuesday, in which the aviators killed nine members of Sandino's army in the neighborhood of Quilali, as they attempted to concentrate, supposedly for an attack on the Marines holding that village.

Admiral Sellers reported that a detachment of Marines is moving from Quilali to San Albino. The Marines are endeavoring to take over and garrison as many villages as possible to deprive Sandino of a base and cut him off from supplies.

Deserters Overtaken and Killed by National Guard.

By the Associated Press. MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 12. — Details of the mutiny at Somotillo, Sunday, of Nicaraguan National Guardsmen, were received at Marine Corps headquarters here yesterday.

The official report is that nine men attempting to desert, were overtaken by loyal members of the guard at Somotillo. In a sharp encounter four deserters were killed and two were mortally wounded. Five, apparently including the wounded men, escaped toward Honduras with rifles and a machine gun.

Among the deserters killed was a corporal who had persuaded the others to desert.

Marines now occupy Somotillo. Col. Luis Mason Gulick, Marine Corps commander, says that all is now quiet in that section.

Roy A. Johnstone, civilian interpreter for marines at Quilali, was killed Monday by insurgents. It was reported to marine headquarters that Johnstone was killed near the recent headquarters of Gen. Sandino, taken from him by marines Dec. 30.

The interpreter, said to have been an Englishman, was for many years a soldier of fortune in Central America. He arrived in Nicaragua last November from Salvador, where he had been employed in the railway service. His wife and two children were with him.

Johnstone joined the marines as an interpreter and was sent to Quilali by airplane Nov. 25. He was familiar with Central American fighting since he had served under Gen. Leo Christmas, Lulu Mena and other fighters widely known in the region.

Johnstone was killed by Sandino's outposts when on his way to El Jicaró.

New York Banks Lend $1,000,000 to Diaz Government Last March.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 12. — At the Nicaraguan legation yesterday it was stated that approximately $500,000 remained to be paid on the $1,000,000 loan made to the Diaz Government of Nicaragua last March by the Guaranty Trust Co. and J. & W. Seligman & Co., both of New York.

Manuel Zavala, first secretary of the legation, said the loan was offered to the Nicaraguan Government last March by the New York bankers. It was approved by the Nicaraguan Congress March 25 and was signed immediately by President Diaz. On March 28 President Diaz appointed a committee to supervise the expenditure of the funds.

Originally the loan was for one year, but a six-month extension was granted by the bankers. Later by the Diaz Government has been able to pay back about $100,000 monthly, and it now hopes to have the entire debt liquidated by June 1. The funds are obtained from
